Roosevelt To Supervise Spending Of Four Billions

WILL HEAD ALLOTMENTS COMMITTEE

Chief Executive Will Say How and Where Relief Funds to Be Expended

CONFEREES GATHER

Appropriation Measure is Sent on Last Lap of Stormy Congress Tour

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—President Roosevelt himself will be the active, working head of the agency that will say how and where the $4,880,000,000 works-relief fund will be spent in the government's biggest drive for re-employment.

This announcement came from the highest administration authorities today as senate and house conferees met to start the huge appropriation measure on the last lap of its stormy congressional circuit.

Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, Undersecretary of Agriculture Rexford G. Tugwell and others will have important places in the organization.

But the president will be the active chairman of an allotments committee that will have the say as to how much money shall be spent on various types of work, and where and how the work shall be done.

Once the allotments have been approved, the work of administering them will fall to the president's assistants on the committee, including Hopkins and Tugwell.

G. O. P. LEADERS IN MID WEST TO MEET

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—Middle western Republican leaders came into the open today with a plan for a springtime farm belt rally to liberalize the party by shifting its leadership from the east to the Mississippi valley.

Party leaders from 10 or more states are expected to meet in Kansas City or Topeka in May to raise $100,000 and prepare the foundation for a liberal GOP platform for 1936.

There were indications that this Republican primary convention might develop into a pep meeting for a middle western presidential candidate.

Gov. Alf. M. Landon of Kansas, Col. Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, R., Mich., were named in the order today by informed Republicans as likely to figure in any rally discussion of 1936 nominees.

HUGE AIRPLANE HOPS OFF FOR CALIFORNIA

MIAMI, Fla., March 27.—(UP)—The Pan-American Clipper took off at 9:15 a. m. today on a two-day flight to San Francisco. The ship will stop tonight at Acapulco on the west coast of Mexico, a distance of 1500 miles. It will continue to San Francisco tomorrow morning.

Capt. Edwin Musick, chief pilot for Pan-American Airways, is in command of the ship with a crew of five.

Fog and smoke from a forest fire delayed the takeoff again today.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

BERLIN, March 27.—(UP)—Police prevented a crowd of between 1000 and 1500 from demonstrating in front of the Lithuanian legation in the Kurtfuerstenstrasse today.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—The house approved today a series of "big navy" bills, including one to assure adequate officer personnel for a treaty strength navy.

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 27.—(UP)—The state rested today in its second effort to send David Lamson to the gallows for the alleged "love slaying" of Allene Thorpe Lamson, his dark-haired, attractive young wife.

ULTIMATUM IS PRESENTED TO COAST SEAMEN

Steamship Companies Join Oil Tanker Operators Against Unions

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—(UP)—Pacific coast steamship companies joined oil tanker operations today in a finish fight against what they termed the "closed shop" demands of maritime unions.

In a move considered by some observers as opening the door for a general maritime strike, 20 companies announced that they would not arbitrate wages and working conditions with the masters, mates and pilots union unless the latter withdrew its demand for preferential employment of union members.

"Ship officers must be selected for ability and personal qualifications and not for union membership," the companies said in an ultimatum which left the waterfronts of a dozen Pacific coast ports in turmoil today.

No Response

Union officials had no ready response for the sudden declaration, the second delivered within a week by their employers. The earlier one had given notice of the withdrawal of oil tanker operators from arbitration until their unionized seamen, members of the International Seamen's union, also withdrew their preferred employment demands.

"We are not going to be stampeded," said H. P. Melnikoff, spokesman for the ship officers' union. "The union will have nothing to say until next Monday when we meet the operators in a regularly scheduled meeting. We'll wait until we see them face to face."

While less conservative elements among the maritime workers were agitating for an immediate general strike the federal government met the threatening situation by naming a special board of mediation to seek settlement of the tanker strike, the basic dispute in the present troubles.

Before returning to Washington Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins appointed Albert Rosenzweig, San Francisco attorney, State Senator Daniel Murphy of San Francisco and Thomas C. Ridgeway, Los Angeles, former president of the state bar, as the mediation board.

"It sometimes becomes necessary for the federal government to step in," Madame Perkins said. "Consultants E. H. Fitzgerald and E. F. Marsh will remain active in settlement negotiations," she said.

Practically every major line operating general passenger and freight service on the Pacific coast joined in the ultimatum, which appeared in paid advertisements in newspapers.

It followed the organization of a united front among 26 maritime unions to aid the strike of the tanker seamen. The latter went out on strike two weeks ago and so far they have succeeded in tying up 39 oil tankers. There has been little violence, as no attempt has been made to operate the oil carriers with strikebreakers.

AUTO DEATHS OVER NATION DECREASING

CHICAGO, March 27.—(UP)—Automobile deaths in the nation decreased 11 per cent during January and February of this year as compared to the death total for the same period in 1934, a report of the National Safety council said today.

While 4310 persons died during the two months as a result of motor accidents this year, one city in the nation registered no fatalities during the month of February. This unusual accident record was made by Providence, R. I., the report said.

The death rate per 100,000 population in six of the nation's largest cities was:

New York, 8.3;	Milwaukee, 12;
Detroit, 17.6;	Cleveland, 17.6;
Chicago, 21.1;	Los Angeles, 34.1.

Auto-Airplane Newest Of Contrivances

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—The department of commerce today awarded a contract for the building of a new contrivance, a combination low-cost automobile and airplane.

It will be similar to the usual autogiro but will have wings that fold back so the owner can keep it in a garage and taxi back and forth from a flying field.

John H. Geisse, chief of the aeronautics development of the bureau, said the new device would eliminate many things that keep the average man from flying.

PRESIDENT TO STUDY RELIEF PLANS ON TRIP

Chief Executive to Devote Part of Vacation Tour to Official Duties

MIAMI, Fla., March 27.—(UP)—President Roosevelt will be in Southern waters today, dividing his time between perfecting the administration's gigantic works relief program and in rest and relaxation.

The chief executive was aboard Vincent Astor's yacht Nourmahal. He transferred from the new destroyer Farragut that carried him to sea from Jacksonville, Fla. With him are old friends of former fishing excursions to Florida and the Bahamas.

Mr. Roosevelt had with him a portfolio of detailed plans of a new works relief set-up that will be created when the measure calling for the vast outlay of $4,880,000,000 finally is approved by congress.

Those plans, explored thoroughly with Harry Hopkins, FERA head who came down on the train from Washington with the president, will receive considerable attention in the next few days. When the bill arrives for signature he will announce the make-up of the expanded administrative force that will be charged with translating the program into speedy action.

The president was happy when he went aboard the warship. He stood on the high forecastle deck, smiled down on the crowd, and

$5000 BAIL SET AS 2 HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Orange Man and Fullerton Woman Bound Over by Judge at Beach

FOLLOWING a preliminary hearing in Judge C. P. Patton's municipal court at Huntington Beach yesterday, Thomas R. Johnston, 42, of 468 South Center street, Orange, and Mrs. Alice Converse Pallisten, 30, of 508 East Pine street, Santa Ana, were bound over to superior court on charges of manslaughter and failure to stop and render aid after an accident. Bail was fixed at $5000 each.

The charges grew from the accident which occurred March 14 at Huntington Beach, in which W. W. Maloney, 80, of Los Angeles, was killed. Maloney died as the result of injuries sustained when his car was sideswiped by a truck driven by either Johnston or Mrs. Pallisten. Both Johnston and Mrs. Pallisten deny having driven the truck at the time of the accident.

According to evidence given at yesterday's hearing, Johnston had driven his truck to Los Angeles, where he picked up Mrs. Pallisten, returning to Huntington Beach. In Long Beach they picked up a third passenger, Mrs. Freddie Garrison, 26, also of Santa Ana. The car in which Maloney was riding, driven by Miss Elizabeth Maloney, Los Angeles, was side-swiped by the Johnston truck.

Officers testified that the occupants of the truck were drunk when picked up on West Fourth street in Santa Ana, following a county wide radio broadcast. Mrs. Pallisten was driving when arrested.

ITALY BUILDING UP FLEET OF BOMBERS

ROME, March 27.—(UP)—Construction of bombing airplanes on a large scale has been begun in Italy in the last month. Undersecretary of Aviation Giuseppe Valle told the chamber of deputies today in speaking on the air budget.

Gen. Valle said the bombers would be able to transport 1500 kilograms (3,307 pounds) of bombs. They would have a flying radius of 1250 miles, a speed of 205 miles an hour and a maximum altitude of 24,250 feet.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE ABOUT IT!

(The following article came in as a communication to the forum, but we felt that it was of such unusual public interest and striking at the very heart of the situation, that we wanted to feature it, so we are using it in this manner.—Editors.)

BY J. P. BAUMGARTNER

Although it is nothing new to find the Register battling in defense of the over-burdened taxpayer, against the capacious and insatiable maw of the "tax-eaters," it was signally encouraging to note the clarity and forcefulness with which your first-page editorial in Monday's paper analyzed and emphasized the startling tax facts brought out in Mark Requa's address before the recent meeting of the California Publishers' Association.

Why every newspaper in this country isn't doing what you are doing, to arouse taxpayers to the danger—the absolute social and economic disaster—with which they are confronted, is incomprehensible. Here is an opportunity for some journalist, like yourself, to immortalize himself and render an economic and a social service, the value of which can hardly be computed—it is so vast and far-reaching.

The newspapers of the country could be organized and put into unanimous, concerted and effective action, and through them the taxpayers could be organized on a national scale, to dethrone the political oligarchy which is usurping our constitutional rights and powers, displacing majority representative government with a parasitic minority class government, with infinite power of self-extension and self-perpetuation. If this is not stopped it's goodbye to democracy!

When running for office, self-nominated, the politicians all promise economy, but they never make good. After being elected they do a little cheese-paring, and much shifting and manipulating of figures and funds, and then publish to the world what wonders they have performed in the way of saving. (And here again

Payment Is Made Under Adjustment

Money Being Paid Out Now Only Advance of Others That Will Follow

PAYMENTS to producers in the Orange county sugar beet district amounting to around $64,000 are nearly completed now for last season's operations under the AAA adjustment program, it was learned today from Assistant Farm Advisor Eric E. Eastman who is in charge of the program for the southern counties in California.

Money is being paid out at the rate of one dollar per ton as advance payments on the 1934 crop on the basis of estimated production. The money goes directly to producers and landlords and is not taxable except by court order.

The estimated production is determined by taking the average of production during the five-year period preceding 1934. Acreage and tonnage for each piece of land is used in estimating production. Production here amounts to about eight tons an acre and there are about 8000 acres in the Orange county district.

While the program is a cut-throat program, here it has worked out so there has been little reduction in production, it was learned. As operating here, the program has worked out as payments made to producers and landlords for conformity with the sugar beet agreement.

While all payments have not yet been made, the matter is practically settled now. The $64,000 amounts to only the advance payment. The balance of the adjustment payments will be made on July 1 and will amount to the difference between the one dollar advance payment and parity price to be set. The July payments may amount to as much as the advance payments now being made, but probably will be somewhat less, Eastman said.

Another benefit yet to come to sugar beet growers is a refund on the 1933 crop surplus in storage when the sugar beet adjustment act was passed.

JOHNSON IMPROVED

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, ill since Saturday with a severe cold, will return to his desk tomorrow, his secretary said today.

CULBERTSONS TAKE BRIDGE MEET LEAD

NEW YORK, March 27.—(UP)—P. Hal Sims, towering bridge expert, found it difficult to be polite early today at the end of the third round of his grudge battle with Ely Culbertson. Sims and his wife had entered the evening's play with Culbertson and his wife 4730 points ahead and left it 1750 points behind. Culbertson showed his glee with much chortling.

The overturn was sensational and had the kibitzers gasping. Everything had gone against the Culbertsons at the afternoon session. Then during dinner intermission, someone gave Mrs. Culbertson a rabbit's foot. Thereafter, nothing could stop her.

BODY OF MISSING ARMY MAN IS FOUND

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—The war department announced today that it was believed the body of Second Lieut. James F. Harris, who had been missing for several months, has been found in San Francisco, Cal.

Harris, whose home was in Cleveland, O., disappeared from his post at Fort Snelling, Minn., last Dec. 31. A nation-wide search has been conducted by both the war department and the department of justice.

Fingerprints of a man who died in San Francisco on Jan. 4 had been compared with those of Lieut. Harris and have been found to be identical, the war department announced.

TUGWELL TAKES CHARGE OF BATTLE AGAINST DUST AND SOIL EROSION OVER NATION

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, number one survivor of the 1932 brain trust, today took charge of the nation's $400,000,000 a year battle against dust storm and soil erosion.

Tugwell's job is to check the spread of erosion which already has ruined or damaged 275,000,000 acres of farm land. The annual erosion damage to farms, roads, reservoirs, irrigation ditches and valley regions approximates $400,000,000 a year.

Tugwell will act in his capacity as undersecretary of agriculture. Secretary Henry A. Wallace today signed the order establishing a new soil erosion unit in his department, effective April 1. He said Tugwell would be in charge of all operations.

Basic of the new organization was provided by the transfer from the interior department of the soil erosion service. H. H. Bennett, director of the service, will head the consolidated activities of the new unit.

All investigational service and control projects on erosion heretofore handled by the bureau of chemistry and soils, agricultural engineering and plant industry, and the CCC erosion control work now under the forest service will be transferred to the new unit. The department estimated that more than 50,000,000 acres of land had been destroyed for crop production by erosion. Another 125,000,000 acres has lost all or most of its top soil, while an additional 100,000,000 acres are "rapidly approaching that condition," the department said.

It will be the primary duty of the new erosion control unit to restore the usefulness of these areas and prevent spread of the conditions which caused the damage.

DINNER TABLES IN L. A. HOMES ARE MEATLESS

LOS ANGELES, March 27.—(UP)—More than 10,000 Los Angeles housewives went on a meat strike today. They prepared to bombard Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace with letters demanding federal aid in lowering the high cost of living.

Two organizations, the Housewives' League of Los Angeles and Southern California and the United Conference Against the High Cost of Living, threw their combined memberships of more than 10,000 into a war on food prices and launched their campaign with a wholesale boycott on meat.

Meatless menus were broadcast through the city by house-to-house canvass, telephone and radio in an effort to make the meat boycott airtight.

The Housewives' league, which claims a membership of 3000 women and says it has "thousands" of other volunteer workers, issued a complete menu for all meals which substitute meat dishes with "lima bean meat," macaroni and cheese, "vegetarian chops," and other vegetable dishes.

"Within a few more days we expect to have the entire city organized," said Mrs. Margaret M. Matteson, secretary of the Housewives' league. "And we won't stop until we have every one of the nation's 10,000,000 housewives pledged to feed their families without meat unless prices are brought within reason."

The meat boycott is not directed primarily at the neighborhood

WANTS OFFER FROM ALLIES OVER TERMS

Sir John Simon Returns to London to Make Report of Results of Parleys

DEMANDS OUTLINED

Conference in Berlin Ended Neither in Success or Failure, Says Simon

BULLETIN

PARIS, March 27.—(UP)—France foresees abandonment of efforts to hold an early European pacification conference, as the result of the British-German negotiations at Berlin. The Berlin conference was considered a failure because Sir John Simon obtained not a single concession from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler which might be used as a basis for discussion.

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

BERLIN, March 27.—(UP)—Germany stands firm in her determination to defy the Versailles treaty unless she receives a satisfactory offer for its revision, it was indicated authoritatively today.

This stood out as the real result of two days of negotiation between Sir John Simon of Great Britain and Adolf Hitler that represented an effort to find a basis for turning Europe from war toward peace.

It is up to Great Britain, France and Italy to make an offer sufficiently attractive to bring Germany into a pacification scheme. She will not be forced.

Hitler has told his story of Germany's years of humiliation and has outlined his demands in a manner apparently not only frank but devastatingly clear.

Simon returned to London today to report to his government and to the governments of France and Italy. He did not officially represent France and Italy, but he did take the leadership in negotiation and must bear responsibility at home and abroad.

He took with him a list of German demands calculated, according to reliable sources in London and Berlin, to anger France and Italy and—perhaps more importantly—the dominant conservative element in the British government.

The Simon-Hitler conference, it was indicated authoritatively, ended neither in success nor failure.

The next step is to inform France and Italy of Hitler's demands and to make his own comment on them. This will prepare for a conference at Stresa, Italy, April 11, which Simon and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France and Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy will attend.

MACDONALD REPORTS RESULTS OF PARLEYS

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

LONDON, March 27.—(UP)—The Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will report to King George on the armament situation late today, it is understood, and apparently must tell the king that the British-German conversations at Berlin failed to provide any basis for negotiation.

It was admitted authoritatively that Adolf Hitler submitted to

COLD WINDS SWEEP OVER MIDDLEWEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 27.—(UP)—Cold winds swept down from the north today, ending a period of warm temperatures and threatening the early buds which had been brought to premature bloom.

Recurring dust storms also were reported over wide areas, but it appeared the Texas Panhandle and eastern New Mexico, not hard hit by dust heretofore, were bearing the brunt of today's storm.

The weather bureau reported the dust very dense in the vicinity of Amarillo and Abilene, Tex., with virtually no ceiling and little visibility. At Fort Worth the air was beginning to fill with dust particles and the Dallas weather bureau said the storm probably would envelop that city. Cold freezing point, was expected to follow the dust.

HEADQUARTERS OFFICE OPENED BY TAXPAYERS

Headquarters for the Taxpayers' League, in its campaign to elect five councilmen pledged to carrying out of the LeGaye resolution, have been opened at 206 West Fifth street, it was announced today by A. G. Diehl, president.

Desk space has been secured at this address and an attendant will be in charge for the distribution of literature and the information of voters, Diehl said.

Interest of League adherents centered today upon the taxpayers and workers' mass meeting scheduled for the Temple theater Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when voters will be informed of the election issues relating to economy and the elimination of waste and when they will have an opportunity to meet the five candidates, A. F. LeGaye, D. Jones Jr., John E. Hall, C. A. Harnois and Steele Finley, who have been endorsed by the league.

Cooking Expert To Demonstrate Electric Kitchen

Bess Meade, well known home economist with the General Electric company, will give another electric kitchen demonstration at the J. C. Horton Furniture store, Sixth and Main streets, tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock. She will return to Santa Ana by popular demand following her demonstration here in February.

The demonstration will be given in the ultra-modern all-electric kitchen which has been constructed as an integral part of the Horton company store. She will use the modern electric kitchen equipment in the Horton store in making the interesting demonstration.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, March 27.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Today's best bit of humor in the papers come from Mr. Hitler, who said the reason he was engaging more men with guns was solely on account of Russia. I guess France didn't enter into it at all. Russia is in enough devilment we all readily admit. But wonder what the world did for somebody to lay everything onto before Russia come along. (Well, as a matter of fact, they used to lay most of it onto us.) I guess no individual ever invented can pass the buck as quick as a nation can.

butcher, according to Mrs. Matteson.

"The packers are responsible," she said. "The federal processing tax also helps to keep the prices up and for that reason we are appealing to Secretary Wallace."

Mrs. Matteson, a former Washington social leader, and an aunt of Doris Duke Cromwell, "world's richest girl," is confident of the campaign's success. She recalled that in 1926 the league fought and won a drive against the high cost of ice.

Unless the baker and the candle stick maker take a tip from what's happening to the butcher, Mrs. Matteson warned, they will be next in line for "boy-croft."

"We won't have any trouble in signing up 10,000,000 women," she said. "Why it's got to the point where folks can't eat anything but carrots and you have to pay five cents a bunch for them. Our office gets phone calls all day from women who want to join."

The league will call butchers, packers and other food dealers to a mass meeting in the near future for a "showdown."

"We just want to hear their side of it," Mrs. Matteson said.

WANTS OFFER FROM ALLIES ON DISARMING

Sir John Simon, British negotiator, unexpected demands as conditions to Germany's return to the League of Nations. Hitler's attitude was far more uncompromising than anticipated.

Simon was expected to arrive this afternoon and MacDonald hoped to consult him briefly at the house of commons before going to Buckingham palace.

The cabinet met this morning, reportedly to deal briefly with the German problem.

MacDonald's statements to the king can hardly strike a hopeful note if the first reaction in government quarters may be regarded as a gauge.

A disturbing report of German demands was published today by the Daily Telegraph's special Berlin correspondent, who has been closest to the British delegation. He summarized demands, as:

1. Equal air force with Britain and France, the mutual level to be based on Russia's air strength.

2. A navy of 400,000 tons, which is one-third of Britain's.

3. Reunion of Germany proper with East Prussia by elimination of the Polish corridor to the sea.

4. A declaration that Germany's eastern frontier was not to be considered as permanent.

5. Readjustment of the Czechoslovakian frontier so as to return 3,500,000 Germans to the Fatherland.

6. Economic union with Austria.

7. All treaty restrictions to be removed and Germany to take place, free and unfettered, among the powers.

8. Russia's great army to be split into eastern and western armies so that not more than 500,000 men would be maintained in European Russia.

This program would antagonize Britain and entangle France, Italy, Austria, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Russia, Roumania and Yugoslavia.

HARRY RUTLEDGE DIES AT HIS HOME

STANTON, March 27.—Harry Rutledge, 82, a native of Illinois but a resident of Southern California for the past 12 years, passed away at his home here yesterday afternoon after an extended illness. He is survived by his widow, Annie M.; three brothers, Frank and John H., both of Stanton, and Oscar F., of Garden Grove, and three sisters, Mrs. Viola D. Roberts of Minneapolis, Mrs. Minnie H. King of Union Gap, Wash., and Mrs. Captola E. Sonntag of Dubuque, Iowa.

Funeral services, under the direction of the Higgenfeld mortuary, will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the Alamos Friends church. The Rev. Harry Parsons, pastor of the Church of Christ Mission at Stanton, will officiate and interment will be made in the Westminster cemetery.

Prize Winners In Safety Contest Announced Today

Announcement of prize awards made by Goodrich Silvertown Stores, Inc., as a result of the showing of the safety film, "The Highway Patrol," at the Temple theater on the evening of February 21, was made today by Orval Lyon, manager of the Goodrich store at First and Broadway.

Prizes were awarded to those turning in the best essays on "The Value of Safety," with Sheriff Logan Jackson, Captain Henry McEwan of the highway patrol, and Floyd W. Howard, chief of police of Santa Ana, acting as judges.

Five prizes were awarded as follows:

First prize, T. M. Barnes, 1420 West Sixth street, Silvertown tire with Lifesaver golden ply.

Second prize, Mrs. Mable Morgan, 2049 Hickory street, Silvertown golden black tube.

Fourth prize, Mrs. Mary Bare, 903 Brown street, Silvertown golden black tube.

Fifth prize, Francis T. Sherman, 818 West Sixth street, 5 gallons Texaco motor oil.

The Goodrich safety campaign was lauded in a letter from Sheriff Logan Jackson to Lyon, in which he said: "I believe the safety programs you have put on have been well worth the effort and feel that as a citizen we have duty to perform in making the roads safer for the users of cars as well as pedestrians."

The length of Mr. Roosevelt's stay depends entirely on the condition of senior Secretary Louis M. Howe, who is desperately ill at the White House. It is expected, however, that he can remain away until about April 10.

DIONNE CHILDREN TO GET EDUCATION

CALLANDER, Ont., March 27.—(UP)—Five little Dionnes, brothers and sisters of the world famous quintuplets, were rescued from obscurity today by a parental provincial government determined to look after their education.

While Oliva and Mrs. Dionne indicated their displeasure at the government's interference, officials made plans to have the five elder children taught to read, write, and speak English. They now speak only French.

The eldest of the other five Dionne children is almost nine. The youngest is not quite two. They have been deluged with scores of toys sent their sisters from all parts of the world but found unsuitable for the nursery.

DAMAGE SUIT IS NEARING CLOSE

The $25,865 damage suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Scott, of Los Angeles, against Mrs. Stella Grainger and her daughter, Ethelyn, of Fullerton, and the counter suit brought by Mrs. Grainger against the Scotts, asking $7742 damages, was drawing to its close today in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court, where a jury has heard the evidence.

Attorneys B. Z. McKinney and Fred Forgy, representing the Scotts, summed the case for their clients, who claim damage for injuries received in an automobile crash at Grand and Commonwealth avenues, Buena Park, last November 12. Scott asks $21,815 and his wife seeks $2047.

Attorneys W. L. Waters, of Fullerton, and Cyril Tipton, of Los Angeles, represent the Graingers.

DEFENSE MAKES PROGRESS IN SUPPORT SUIT

Trial of the $45,000 support suit brought against A. W. Cleaver, Fullerton laundryman, by Miss Esther Keller, his former employee, was adjourned today until next Tuesday, after Mrs. Cleaver had come to her husband's defense by testifying, as a wife, that the girl's charge against her husband, that he was the father of a child born to the girl, could not possibly be true.

Mrs. Cleaver corroborated her husband's earlier testimony that since he underwent a surgical operation in 1927 or 1928 he had been physically incapable of parenthood, and therefore it was impossible that he could be the father of Miss Keller's son, born June 10, 1932.

The defense regarded as likewise significant to its case, the testimony today of Mr. G. Wendell Olson of Fullerton, Miss Keller's physician, whose statement regarding physical aspects of Miss Keller's motherhood coincided with the intimation of the defense that her situation was due to a trip she made to Ensenada, Mexico, on Labor day of 1933, with a prominent Fullerton man other than Cleaver.

Dr. Olson's testimony was given after Miss Keller had waived any objection to it.

Mrs. Cleaver, while under cross-examination, denied that she had consulted Attorney Guss Hagenstein of Fullerton, regarding a divorce from her husband, or that she had hid in the rear of his car one night when he was attending a theater, and thus accompanied him when he drove away. She also denied that she had employed a private detective to get divorce evidence.

The trial was adjourned today because of Judge Ames' enforced absence from the city on business. Testifying late yesterday, Cleaver estimated the Cleaver holdings to be worth $209,100, not including a business building in Fullerton, which was overlooked in the questioning. He claims he assigned all his property as a Christmas present to his wife in 1933 because of uncertain health.

Miss Keller's attorneys yesterday noted, for the record, that while the assignments purport to have been made December 22, 1933, they actually were not recorded by the county recorder until June 5, 1934.

MORTGAGE BILL COMES BEFORE STATE SOLONS

Culbert L. Olson's proposal to extend liberal state aid to self-help cooperatives. It came out of committee without recommendation, and was certain to cause considerable discussion on the floor. It was not known, however, whether Senator Olson would insist upon consideration today or have it put over until later.

The defense regarded as likewise significant to its case, the testimony today of Mr. G. Wendell Olson of Fullerton, Miss Keller's physician, whose statement regarding physical aspects of Miss Keller's motherhood coincided with the intimation of the defense that her situation was due to a trip she made to Ensenada, Mexico, on Labor day of 1933, with a prominent Fullerton man other than Cleaver.

Dr. Olson's testimony was given after Miss Keller had waived any objection to it.

Mrs. Cleaver, while under cross-examination, denied that she had consulted Attorney Guss Hagenstein of Fullerton, regarding a divorce from her husband, or that she had hid in the rear of his car one night when he was attending a theater, and thus accompanied him when he drove away. She also denied that she had employed a private detective to get divorce evidence.

The trial was adjourned today because of Judge Ames' enforced absence from the city on business. ### A WORD OF COMFORT

Although you profess to believe in God, you walk faithfully and tremblingly. You demonstrate weakness instead of strength and endurance; hope and good cheer have flown away.
You must not merely admire God; you must appropriate Him; not merely assume that He is in the world, you must appropriate Him.
The task ahead of you is not easy and you need God's help. Be eager to sustain, inspire and comfort you. Listen receptively and give Him a chance to make His presence real to you. Be still and know that He is God.

DEFER ACTION ON REQUEST FOR LARGER BOARD

A proposal that the board of directors of the Orange County Water District be increased from seven members to 14 members was presented before the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county at the annual meeting last night at the Green Cat cafe.
The proposal came in a resolution presented by J. E. Lewis of Yorba Linda, chairman of the water committee, as a part of his annual report, and immediately provoked opposition by Roy Browning, who pointed out the proposed 14-member board would be more costly, more unwieldy and more difficult to unite upon a concerted program than the present smaller group.
At the suggestion of O. T. Stephens of La Habra, the resolution was held over for consideration for 30 days, according to the Associated's by-laws, and will be made a special order of business at the April meeting to be held in Yorba Linda probably on April 30.

Because voting in the water district is carried out according to ownership of acreage, and smaller ranchers feel they are outvoted by the larger land owners, Lewis explained after the meeting that the desire of these smaller land owners for more adequate representation on the board brought about presentation of the resolution.

The resolution presented by Lewis, which will come before the Yorba Linda meeting in April, said that the Orange County Water District act is not adequate to the needs of the district, that the governing board has proposed amendments giving them power to levy increased taxation and other enlarged powers, and that the present board of seven members is not fully representative of the interests of the district.

The resolution called for appointment of a committee of five to co-operate in drafting such amendment or amendments.

MUNITIONS INDUSTRY LABELED INTERNATIONAL RACKET THAT BLOCKS WORLD CO-OPERATION

Describing the munitions industry as an international racket which has blocked the progress of disarmament and world co-operation, Dr. Frederick J. Libby, prominent lecturer and executive secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, addressed members of the Santa Ana Valley Forum in the Ebell auditorium last night.

"What Shall We Do With Our Arms?" was the topic of Dr. Libby's speech, in which he outlined the enormous profits of armament manufacturers, and expressed the opinion that the industry is drastically in need of control both internationally and nationally.

Starting gains of from 100 to 800 per cent over previous years were recorded by the munition makers during the World War which killed 50,000 United States citizens, the speaker said. The company profits of the du Ponts amounted to 256 million dollars between 1914-18. The United States Steel corporation, which profited to the extent of 180 million in the three years preceding the war, realized the astounding figure of $21 million during 1915-18. Dr. Libby estimated that 21,000 millionaires have been created by the munitions industry.

Have Strange-Hold
Discussing at length the testimony produced in Senator Nye's munitions investigation, the speaker declared that manufacturers of guns, airplanes, naval vessels and other munitions of war have a strange hold on the War, Navy and Commerce departments, and have been using them to promote business; that the munition makers have stimulated armament races between neighboring countries by wide-spread propaganda; that American munition firms, to increase their sales abroad, have revealed to other countries secret processes and recent inventions; that the du Pont company, the Electric Boat company and other United States munitions firms have agreements with related industries in other countries, thereby forming international combines and dividing the profits.

The United States government has devised a plan of munitions control which would be 90 per cent effective, Dr. Libby explained. Points in the plan include (1) that each nation accept the responsibility for manufacture of munitions, (2) that each nation license munitions, (3) that each government publish contracts of orders, (4) that each government report to Geneva to a permanent commission the preparations made for war, and (5) that the commission or central committee have the right of inspection of each nation's armaments.

Status of Plan
"Great Britain has refused to accept the plan on account of the inspection clause," the speaker stated. "Italy and Japan are undecided; Russia is awaiting Japan's reaction."
Dr. Libby was introduced by J. F. Burke, who lauded the work of the Santa Ana Forum and Dr. Frederick W. Roman of Los Angeles in securing the national secretary and other prominent speakers to appear before the people of Santa Ana. Ben Tarver of Santa Ana presided over the meeting.

Secretary Libby will speak at an assembly of Occidental college students tomorrow morning, and will address the Pasadena Peace Council Friday. He will be at the Long Beach Forum meeting Saturday, the First Christian church.

Entertainment will be presented and refreshments served.

STAND ON TAX MATTERS TAKEN BY COUNTY C. C.

Holding that the sales tax and the income tax were originally companion projects and both are necessary to adequate financing of the state government, the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce last night refused to voice opposition to the proposed state income tax as recommended in the annual report of the association's tax committee.

At the same time, the group opposed any increase in gasoline taxes, recommended the sales tax be increased from 2 1/2 to 3 per cent, and opposed transfer of personal auto tax from the counties to the state.

The recommendations regarding the tax matters were presented by J. A. Knapp of Garden Grove, chairman of the tax committee of the organization, who scored irregularities in taxation, and duplicate costs through overlapping governmental bodies. He designated as "vicious bills" several measures now in the legislature which would, if passed, empower city councils, boards of supervisors, school boards, and other public bodies to issue large bond issues without vote of the people.

"We cannot recommend the state income tax in the sum of one-third of the Federal income tax," read the committee's recommendation, which was approved by Roy Browning and Ross Shafer in short talks, but opposed by Ralph McAdams, George Kelloso and O. T. Stephens, and was eliminated from the committee's report as finally adopted.

Oppose Consumers' Tax
A resolution opposing the consumer's tax on utility users, as previously adopted by the Orange County Tax Council, was unanimously adopted when presented by Knapp. It provided opposition to the measure now before the legislature unless the tax would be effective on all consumers of utilities, whether publicly or privately owned, and that an equalization of publicly and privately owned utility rates taxes be made before any increase in public utility tax be allowed.

Funeral services for the children will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Church of Latter Day Saints, South Flower and Myrtle streets, with Harrell and Brown in charge. It was announced today.

Cory, assistant farm advisor, a discussion on brooding and related subjects by Chairman Heinemann, a report of the legislative committee on bills before the legislature which affect poultry producers.

FARM CENTERS ADOPT PLANS FOR MEETINGS

At a dinner meeting in Farm Bureau hall last night, 35 Farm Center officials adopted a plan for scoring Farm Bureau community center meetings and agreed upon the points which are essential for the success of the Farm Center.

A feature of the meeting was a model director's report given by J. W. Crill, Farm Bureau president.

The system of scoring Farm Centers for their meetings was based on the following percentages: opening five per cent, manner of conducting meetings 15, reports 20, hospitality and sociability 10, entertainment 10, feature 10, attendance 10, discussions 15 and closing five per cent.

It was brought out at the meeting that the entire organization structure in the Farm Bureau is built around the Farm Center, and this is the reason such importance is being placed on making the Center meetings educational, interesting and informative.

L. A. Bortz, vice president of the Farm Bureau, presided at the meeting.

GEO. KELLOGG NEW PRESIDENT OF COUNTY C. C.

George Kellogg of Yorba Linda, the new president of the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce, having been elected at an annual dinner meeting held at night at the Green Cat cafe. Dr. C. G. Huxton of Costa Mesa is chosen vice-president and George Raymer of Santa Ana was selected secretary-treasurer. O. Stephens of La Habra was chairman of the nominating committee. T. E. Talbert, of Huntington Beach, the retiring president, becomes chairman of the advisory committee for the ensuing year. Following a brief address of welcome by Nat H. Neff and response by Stuart Strathman of Placentia, the evening was largely devoted to annual committee reports.

H. E. Wahlberg, chairman of the agricultural committee, said Orange county growers had profited approximately four million dollars the past season from AAA co-operation in marketing, and that controlled shipments had benefited all citizens, directly or indirectly.

There is no regimentation under the AAA, he declared, for the growers themselves are in charge, with 30,000 county committeemen and 100,000 community committeemen serving throughout the United States in 3000 county production control administrations.

Lemon growers are now being signed up under a state pro-rate agreement for closer marketing control, Wahlberg reported.

Nat Neff reported for the planning committee that the proposed county zoning ordinance is now ready, and copies may be obtained on the third floor of the courthouse annex.

Harry Welch reported for the harbor committee that dredging operations are ahead of schedule, with three dredgers on the job, and the fourth expected early next week. Rapid progress may result in the harbor work being completed as early as September, he said, and invited county organizations to hold their meeting at the beach city and enjoy a boat ride about the bay.

George Kellogg, for the highway committee, urged the "economy of proper highway improvement," and said there are 1215 miles of road or right-of-way in Orange county outside cities, of which only 880 miles are improved with gravel, gravel and oil, other surfacing, or pavement.

Important highway developments of the year, he said, were completion of the harbor boulevard, completion of Firestone boulevard to Buena Park, widening of the coast highway between Newport Beach and Laguna Beach, and elimination of the Sulphur Slide grade in Santa Ana canyon now under way.

V. D. Johnson, chairman of publicity, said Orange county would not be represented at the San Diego exposition "because the supervisors did not feel justified in spending the taxpayers' money" for such purposes, and the amount which could be spent would be inadequate. Johnson reported the county is operating on a $11,175 budget this year, a reduction of more than $30,000 from the 1930-1931 budget which provided $45,850 for county advertising purposes.

Thirty-seven persons were present at the annual affair.

La Habra School Teacher Marries

LA HABRA, March 27.—Friends of Miss Dorothy Doane, who for the past five years has been a teacher in the local schools, have learned of her wedding to Leslie Foist. Miss Doane and Mr. Foist were married in Riverside by the Congregational minister, the Rev. J. Ellis, March 23. After visiting friends in Pasadena, they returned to La Habra and have established their home on West Francis avenue.

Miss Doane wore a tan and brown ensemble, with matching accessories and a corsage of rose buds. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis St. John Doane, of Kansas. Mr. Foist came here recently from Ohio.

SPEAKER SAYS SCHOOLS HAVE CUT EXPENSES

California school costs have been reduced thirty-three million dollars since 1931, a decrease of 20 per cent, while expenditures by other governmental agencies have been reduced twelve million dollars, or three and one-half per cent, it was declared by Harold Kingsley in an address before members of the Santa Ana Rotary club yesterday noon at the Green Cat cafe.

Kingsley, former Long Beach newspaper editor, is head of the public relations department of the California Teachers Association and was procured for the Rotary program by D. K. Hammond, program chairman for yesterday's meeting.

Since the schools have borne 73 per cent of the governmental reductions to date, the speaker declared, it is but right and proper that parents insist upon further reduction of other governmental expenses before permitting further school reductions "to be taken out on the boys and girls," some of whom are now crowded 40, 50 and even 60 in one room.

California by constitutional amendment guarantees equality of educational opportunities, Kingsley said, by having the general tax base of the state take over the major portion of school costs, and some of the poorer districts are operating their schools entirely on this state money. As a result, he said, California and New York which has a similar school maintenance plan, are the only states which have been able to keep all schools open during the depression.

The way to secure peace is to take the profits out of war, it was declared by Clinton Campbell, Santa Ana high school senior, in an address entitled the "Heroism of Peace," following his introduction by Hammond.

Campbell is a leading participant in the oratorical contest, now including Orange county, which was originally started in Riverside and San Bernardino counties by the World Friendship movement sponsored by Frank Miller of the Mission Inn, and hopes to present this week in the finals of the contest.

The young man scored the "greedy scoundrels who furnish war at our expense," naming the "sanguinary politicians," munition makers and shipbuilders as among those profiting out of war. As an example of war graft, he cited the purchase of 20 million mosquito nets when "there are no mosquitoes in France where they were supposed to be used."

Pointing out the "horror and immorality of war," Campbell declared the "war for democracy" had placed two-thirds of the world's population under dictatorship of Naziism, Fascism and Sovietism. Preparedness, he said, is "preparedness to go straight to hell."

President O. Scott McFarland presided at the meeting, and announced Carl Newman has been appointed program chairman for next month. By vote of the membership, the club decided to continue its meetings at the Green Cat, after having "shopped around" in recent weeks among available meeting places.

Nominations for directors, to be elected two weeks hence, were announced as follows: Wendell Finley, Guy Gilbert, Stanley Goode, Claude McDowell, Ted Jensen, Scott McFarland, and Walter Vandermast. The nominating committee was composed of Terry Stephenson, chairman, J. I. Clark, Fred Merker, W. H. Spurgeon Jr., and E. B. Sharples.

BOARD TURNS DOWN PLAN FOR FAIR EXHIBIT

Orange county will be unable to join with Riverside and San Bernardino counties in a $10,000 fair exhibit at the San Diego exposition this summer, the county supervisors decided late yesterday.

The board did not feel that the county could afford the expenditure of $3333.33 for that purpose, with the tax situation what it is this year, the supervisors advised Tom Hurley of Oceanside, former chairman of the San Diego county supervisors, and now a representative of the exposition.

Hurley appeared before the board with V. D. Johnson of Orange, head of the Orange county publicity department, to present the proposal for a tri-county exhibit. Each county would pay a third of the $10,000 cost, under the plan proposed.

After considering the proposal across the luncheon table, the supervisors yesterday afternoon advised Hurley that Orange county would not undertake the project. The board late yesterday authorized Chairman John Mitchell to sign an application to the state railroad commission for permission to construct a crossing of the Southern Pacific tracks at Hanson avenue and Artesia street, near Buena Park.

Purchase of a used truck for the county flood control department was authorized by the board.

COMPLETE WORK ON LIBRARY BUILDING

BUENA PARK, March 27.—The reopening of the library yesterday marked the completion of the new structure, which was begun in December with labor furnished by the SERRA and materials by the district. The new building is 70 feet wide and 20 feet deep. The old wooden structure which constituted the former library, was added to the new building for storage space.

The library is of concrete-stucco construction. Ten laborers, two carpenters and a plumber were employed. Earl Dow, in the employ of the library district, supervised the work.

As early as 1850, Col. Konstantinoff of the Russian army began experimenting with glider rockets.

Cooking Demonstration in Our Electric Kitchen 2 to 4 p. m.

THE BEAUTIFULLY sparkling glass you admire may carry the unseen deadly germ that will mean sickness and disease. Medical authorities have proved through many tests and investigations that hand-washed dishes are major carriers of disease germs. Life insurance companies warn that "hand dishwashing has a direct bearing on our death rate!"

The unsanitary dishcloth in your kitchen is a breeding place of bacteria and germs that are not destroyed by the warm water used in hand dishwashing. What may be only a common cold to one member of the family may mean influenza or fatal pneumonia to another.

The General Electric Dishwasher uses water hotter than human hands can touch—a steaming spray under pressure, washes every dish hygienically clean, and destroys bacteria and germs that are a menace to the health of your entire family.

Glassware, chinaware, silverware—pots and pans, too—are placed in its rubber trays as quickly and easily as in a sink. A magic control is turned and in 5 minutes the job is done. Breaking and chipping is eliminated and an hour or more time is saved each day. The General Electric cleans and dries itself—human hands do not even touch dishwasher.

There is a G-E Dishwasher for every kitchen. Both portable and cabinet-sink models.

City Gets $1310 Gas Tax Fund for Work on Street

Santa Ana city received a $1310 appropriation from the county gas tax fund through the board of supervisors late yesterday, to aid in financing the improvement of Flower street, which the city proposes to open between Fifth and Sixth streets.

The supervisors acted favorably upon a request presented in the form of a resolution from the city council, asking $860 for improvement of Flower street between Fifth and Sixth streets, and $450 for improvement of the same thoroughfare between Sixth and Eighth streets, which was opened several years ago.

The improvement is planned for the purpose of making a through street of Flower, as one of the principal traffic outlets of the city.

SCHOOL BOARD CRITICIZED FOR ORDERING REPORTS MADE DIRECT; TERMED POLITICS

The Santa Ana board of education was sharply criticized last night by W. M. Burke, one of its members, for its action in receiving reports directly from various school department heads at the previous meeting, two weeks ago, which Burke said was being interpreted in some quarters as a "campaign stunt."

Burke, himself, was not present at the meeting to which he referred, and he expressed vigorous disapproval that it had taken the form it did.

"Why were the heads of school departments here to make their reports?" he demanded. "Why weren't they made to the superintendent and, through the superintendent, to the board, if it was necessary to make them?"

Burke pointed out that the board had itself adopted a resolution previously establishing the policy that all reports must come through the superintendent. "Having these heads make their reports direct to the board, over the superintendent's head, is against the board's policy and would encourage the department heads to repeat the move. It would tend to upset discipline."

Chairman Wells defended the previous meeting's program as "an evening devoted to education." Burke, himself, had suggested once that the board should devote an evening to education, he said.

Burke said he had no objection to education, but that he had heard at least a dozen persons say the program was "put up as a campaign stunt."

At the program in question, various department heads had reported progress in their divisions, and the success of policies adopted by the present school administration.

Gives Report

City Superintendent Frank Henderson reported highlights of a superintendent's conference at Bakersfield last Friday, including the recommendation that, in choosing delegates to the coming constitutional convention, care should be taken to assure support for retention of fixed charges for education.

The conference also warned against bills in the legislature to take control of school funds out of the hands of school boards. In many places, county supervisors are supporting such a move, desiring to obtain control of the funds themselves, Henderson said. It was predicted at the conference that the 5 per cent budget increase limit would be retained by the present legislature, Henderson said. Several schools in Southern California have fulltime or part-time publicity writers, to keep the press and public informed of school affairs, he stated.

Seek Estimates

The board instructed Business Manager George Newcom to get cost estimates for resurfacing the cement athletic grounds of the Y. M. C. A., used by the junior college. Chairman Wells reported that he had discussed with W. K. Hilliard, Y board member, a plan to resurface with decomposed granite, covered by a coating of sand, the probable cost being about $200 to $225.

Newcom also was instructed to get estimates for installing overhead lights at the new Lathrop tennis courts. An informal estimate of $300 was declared "too high" by Burke.

Newcom and Henderson were authorized to ascertain legal means whereby the board could contribute $100 toward the financing of the fiesta dinner planned by the Junior College Student Body for graduating seniors of Orange county high schools. Board members said they believed the dinner a "good investment in enrollment."

Changes of orders in building plans, providing new urinals at Lathrop shop, and vents in Spur-

Production Of Autos Doubles, Aids Recovery

If the developments in the automobile industry over the past few years, during which time production of motor cars has practically doubled, are viewed from the standpoint of their social significance, recovery may yet roll in on the country "on the wheels of the automobile," provided there is no interruption in the current progress, according to Roy D. Chapin, president of the Hudson Motor Car company, in a statement sent to E. and L. Motors, local dealers. Pointing out that with the doubling of production since 1932, all companies naturally increased their purchases of materials and supplies during the past year, and also gave increased employment to thousands of additional men, he made public figures showing the extent to which increased sales of his company have stimulated the movement of industry in general. The Hudson Motor Car company alone spent $35,000,000 for materials and supplies of all kinds in 1934, while payrolls aggregated $12,500,000. This compares with material costs of $19,165,000 and payrolls of $7,707,000 in 1932, the low year of the depression. Thus, purchases showed an increase of $2 per cent, and payrolls 75 per cent as compared with 1932.

As to employment, Chapin said the average number of men employed by the company in 1934 was 8730, the largest for any year since 1930. These figures are exclusive of approximately 27,000 persons employed by Hudson and Terraplane dealers in the sale and servicing of cars throughout the country, as well as tens of thousands working on the manufacture of Hudson and Terraplane parts in the factories that supply the company.

A large airdrome has been constructed at Nanchang, China, capable of accommodating -300 air planes.

DEADLINE FOR OLD LICENSES SET APRIL 1

April 1 is the last day upon which 1934 license plates may be displayed on any vehicle operated in California, and autos with old plates will be stopped by members of the California highway patrol, according to word received from Sacramento today.

Russell Bevans, registrar of the Department of Motor Vehicles, set next Monday as the deadline for old plates, and requested E. Raymond Cato, chief of the highway patrol, to instruct highway officers to stop all cars displaying the old plates.

All drivers who have not applied for new plates will be given a citation of arrest and ordered to impound their cars until now new registration, Bevans said, and such cars will be allowed to proceed if their drivers are able to furnish proof they have applied for new plates.

A few cars are still using 1934 plates because of delay in obtaining the necessary papers for new registration, Bevans said, and such cars will be allowed to proceed if their drivers are able to furnish proof they have applied for new plates.

PISTOLS FOR TWO... AND CAMERA SHOOT BOTH

Men still fight duels—and here's a picture, just arrived in America, to prove it. Maitre M. Campinchi (center) and Horace de Carbucci (left), both Corsican members of the French Chamber of Deputies, kept firing until blood was drawn when they met in Paris. Ironically, Campinchi, who demanded satisfaction for comments made in Carbucci's paper, was wounded. The seconds watch at right. Smoke still streams from Carbucci's gun. Campinchi stands his ground, having been first to fire.

EXCITING TALE OF VOYAGE FROM BOSTON TO 'FRISCO TOLD IN DIARY OF 1849

The story of the Rev. William Wiggins Smith's trip from Boston, Mass., to San Francisco, California, aboard the brig, "Forest," in January of 1849 is an entertaining and exciting one and is contained in extracts from his diary which have come into the possession of his granddaughter, Mrs. Alex Olson, of Costa Mesa.

The Rev. Mr. Smith was accompanied on his six months' voyage around South America to California by his wife and three children, the eldest of whom, William Moody Smith, was Mrs. Olson's father. Mr. Smith's brother, the Rev. Joseph Smith, and his family also made the journey at that time.

The account contains descriptions of several South American cities, where the voyagers paused from time to time, the tale of a fight between the ship's sailors and townspeople of Santa Catharina, Brazil, the story of a terrific storm off the Falkland Islands, discussions of constellations seen in the Southern skies and finally a brief but vivid picture of life in San Francisco and its surrounding mining towns.

The brig stopped for several weeks in Santa Catharina where fresh water was procured and a small leak repaired. The Rev. Mr. Smith relates with amusement the interest his wife and the blonde children caused in the town whose inhabitants were either native Indians or Portuguese. He wrote "The women take up our children and kiss them, saying, 'This is pretty girls' in English, and then take them to their houses and give fired the sailors managed to get aboard the boat, and were soon out of danger.

The storm which overtook them as they slipped past the Falkland Islands caused some breathless moments and left two deaths in its wake. The storm increased in volume until a huge wave swept the decks, carrying six men into the sea. The writer described the event: "I ran out and went to the ice side, where I saw four men towards the stern. I heard voices calling, 'Heave over ropes.' I threw over the only one in the waist, and observed that two or three clug to it. . . . One sang out, 'Haul, haul!' and as some of the crew came to my aid, we drew in one of the foremast hands. By this time those in the stern had taken in the second mate over the taffrail. I saw another man had taken the rope that I had thrown over, and we began to haul upon that, but he slipped his hold a number of times. Finally we brought him to the deck, and it proved to be Captain Vorania. By the time these three men were safe the sails were lined with men who came to the rescue, and I could see but two more overboard.

"At this time the captain showed the manly and the humane art of an officer, for in his concern for the men overboard it took two or three to keep him in his cabin. "When the other two were taken in it was found that one was alive and the other dead. It was believed that the rope he had grasped had twisted around his neck and strangled him. Later the third mate was found missing. It is supposed that he was disabled in some way and sank immediately. After the "Forest sailed" into the quieter waters of the Pacific the voyage continued peacefully, and the time was devoted to watching for strange fish by day, new constellations by night. The diarist was particularly enchanted by the skies of the southern hemisphere and devoted a great deal of time to describing unfamiliar phenomena. He devoted much space to the "Magellan Clouds," which hang low over the South Pole, and gave several opinions as to what caused them. The sailors thought that some strange mineral on the bed of the sea was reflected in the sky, causing the strange glow. Others believed that they were the reflection of the icy lands at the pole.

The Smiths arrived in San Francisco during the first week in July and found that "The city is among the hills of sand and clay, and most of the houses are covered with cotton and other cloths. Rents are from $100 to $1000 per year, and board from $10 to $21 per week. Provisions are very low for this country: flour $8 to $10 per barrel; pork, $25 per barrel; salmon, $14 per barrel, and fresh beef 17 cents per pound.

"We went on shore to make an exploration of the city and saw thousands of dollars' worth of all kinds of goods left in the streets by night and day, with no watch. These are reckoned secure from thievery."

Soon after coming to San Francisco the Smiths moved to New York of the Pacific, but finally became the first settlers of Antioch, where they lived for many years.

British army and navy student pilots now hold their bombing practice indoors. The pupil sits in a stationary plane and a picture of the ground, as it looks at 800 feet, passes under him. When the bomb-release is operated a device records the exact spot the bomb would have landed if dropped from the air.

College Students Give Program At Capistrano High

SAN JUAN, CALIF., March 27.—Students of the Capistrano High school were entertained in assembly Tuesday by a group of students from Santa Ana Junior college, who presented a play entitled "The Woman Who Understood Men." lege student body addressed the group on "Junior College Education." John S. Malcom, social studies instructor at the high school, was in charge of the program.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

PEACE OF RICHBERG

From Augsburg to Richberg is not very far. The labor peace of Richberg is essentially the same from an inner viewpoint as the religious peace of Augsburg.

In the Augsburg peace (A. D. 1555), two religious factions agreed to cease religious warfare and to recognize the supremacy of the German state.

In the Richberg peace (March 14, 1935), labor and the New Deal agreed to stop fighting each other, and to recognize the supremacy of the NRA state. In both cases it was more of an armed truce than a real peace, and no one knows how long this one will last.

INSTIGATOR

Very little publicity attended the Richberg event, because one was extra proud of it. The deal was made by the New Deal merely for the purpose of getting its mild NRA reorganization bill through congress.

The man who fixed it was not Richberg, but Averill Harriman, the invisible manager of the existing NRA organization. He went to President Roosevelt and submitted the basic plan which caused Messrs. Richberg, Green (A. F. of L.), Lewis (United Mine Workers) and Hillman (NRA) to be called into the White House.

Harriman's part is being kept quiet for fear of disturbing the truce. Labor does not like him and might withdraw if it suspected his part.

TRADE

It was as clever a bargain as ever has been made by five poker players.

The hardest man to sell was Lewis. He likes Richberg even less than General Johnson likes Huey Long. In preliminary conferences, he flatly asserted he would have nothing to do with NRA as long as Richberg was connected with it. Yet under the truce-peace, Richberg is to be chairman of NRA, and Lewis overjoyed.

There are two reasons why Mr. Lewis now will concede that perhaps Richberg has a kind face. The main one is that Lewis' right-hand man (Phillip Murray) was put on the NRA board of administration. This appointment was, of course, made publicly.

What was not made public was the fact that Mr. Lewis also got an understanding that Mr. Richberg will relinquish the NRA chairmanship June 16 and have nothing to do with NRA thereafter.

So all it really amounts to personally is that Mr. Lewis has agreed for a consideration to stop hating Mr. Richberg until noon, June 16.

SAVED!

What it amounts to politically is that Mr. Roosevelt's NRA reorganization plan is rescued from the brink of the congressional Niagara.

At least the Borah-Nye opposition group suffered a major loss of strength when the Green-Lewis A. F. of L. gang walked out on them. The truce is supposed to include a specific understanding that Green and Lewis will cooperate in getting the administration bill through the senate. The radical NRA reorganization bill (30-hour week, etc.) is to be dropped by Mr. Green.

What Mr. Green gets for being so kind is supposed to be the Wagner labor board bill. There seems to be some disagreement about how definite the White House promise was about that, but the labor groups are now saying privately that Mr. Roosevelt will either come out openly for the bill or attempt to jockey it through the senate before adjournment.

Regardless of that, Mr. Green also will get some representatives on code authorities which were hitherto made up only of industrialists.

PRESTIGE

All this criticism you have heard and will hear of Richberg has not hurt his standing inside the White House. His job is to take criticism from all quarters which might otherwise be directed at a higher source. Therefore, in a way, the more he is criticized, the more he fulfills his real mission. Today his standing is as solid as ever.

WARNING

Caution should be exercised by business men and speculators in interpreting current activities in congress.

The Thomas silver amendment to the relief bill was adopted by the senate merely to save time. It will be dropped in the first handy waste basket by the conferees and will not prevail in the end. Neither will the inflationary aspects of the bonus bill, or, in fact, any pending inflation proposals.

Similar false moves will be made from time to time until adjournment. No decisive action is in the wind now, beyond what you have already heard about.

NOTES

The published threats of a coal strike are not taken seriously by those who know. Incidentally, in the Richberg truce, the New Dealers made no commitments on a new coal wage contract to replace the one expiring April 1, or on the Guffey bill.

NRA sentiment in senate progressive ranks began to change about the time of the truce. Progressive senators report that their mail is turning in favor of NRA.

Certain personal animosities were left behind by the senate relief bill vote. Senators LaFollette and Wagner have definitely fallen out with Senator McCarran.

The greatest tribute which ever will be paid Senator Glass was the fact that the New Dealers let him handle their relief bill. He was against the bill and voted against it, but they have no complaint over his handling of it for them.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

JUMPS

New York sharps scent something phoney about the grand reconciliation scene between the White House and the Federation of Labor. "They should have had an offstage orchestra playing 'Hearts and Flowers' when John Lewis and Donald Richberg pulled that magnanimous handshake. The act had all the realism of an 1840 melodrama."

Insiders say the gap between the administration and organized labor is far too wide to be bridged by the mouthing of sweet sentiments or giving labor another representative on the Recovery board. They hope it that FDR realizes his slaps at the Federation are costing him dear politically and is trying to negotiate a new basis of understanding.

But they add that it will take at least two jumps to cross the chasm and everything depends on whether he lands on a rock or a banana peel in the middle. If Richberg is to be the stepping stone they figure the footing will be worse than precarious.

SWEEP

Reports persist in informed quarters that the President's current concession to the Federation chiefs is the curtain raiser for more important gestures to come. The Wagner bill is Labor's fond dream. Despite denials it is doubted that Senator Wagner swung to the White House side of the prevailing wage argument without at least a fairish quid pro quo.

This doesn't mean that the Wagner bill will necessarily get an official White House blessing. But astute observers expect the administration tacks which were strewn in its path last session to be quietly swept away.

DISPOSING

New York understands that A. D. Whiteside's resignation from the National Recovery Board traces to the scrapping of his pet ideas by the higher-ups. He was a staunch advocate of limiting NRA to a maximum hour-minimum wage-no child labor proposition. A couple of months ago this plan seemed certain of official adoption. Now it's been replaced by a revised project halfway between its stark simplicity and the complications of the original setup.

Shrewd watchers believe FDR has erred in giving the boys on Capitol Hill such a clearly-defined target to snipe at. "He doesn't seem to realize the days are gone when a measure becomes law on his say-so. He can still propose—but you can bet your grand piano that Congress will do the disposing from now on."

CUT-THROAT

Many business men—especially those connected with code authorities—are panicky at the prospect of a savage price-cutting spree after June 15 unless NRA is renewed in a form which includes regulation of trade practices. They are trying hard to drum up a rousing industrial demand for continuation of codes.

Some important lines are already suffering from an unofficial but widespread buyers' strike. Wholesale purchasers are holding off on the theory that prices will drop through the cellar when current NRA restrictions are removed by failure of Congress to act. The most disturbing angle is that they have been inspired to this attitude by the advice of certain manufacturers notorious in the past for cut-throat tactics.

APPEAL

Keep your eye on the New York State Committee for the Revival of private enterprise. This committee was recently formed as a sort of offshoot from the New York Economic Council. A mild and inexpensive drive for members last week netted over a thousand recruits. If the idea catches on well here you can expect creation of a national organization on similar lines shortly.

The committee has so far avoided locking horns on specific issues—and will continue that policy as consistently as it can. In general it aims at curtailment of state and national spending and abandonment of business reform legislation. Its sponsors plan to build gradually and carefully—avoiding direct conflict with other groups and individuals as completely as possible. Politically it is non-partisan—but its program could easily serve as a rallying point for conservatives of all parties.

The group is wary of the pitfalls which await the American Liberty League off to a stumbling start. Its featured membership will be solid but relatively inconspicuous citizens—no duPonts or Davises as shining marks for left wingers. By beginning as a New York State outfit it avoids crossing swords with Washington too soon and can feel its way along the channels of public opinion with less danger of running on a rock.

The committee makes a special appeal to consumers—neatly timed to take advantage of mounting protests about the cost of living. The point is stressed that consumers pay for high taxes and legislative burdens in higher prices. Insiders predict the outfit will be a factor nationally in 1936.

CROW

Keen sources are confident that an important element in the triumph of the Patman bonus bill over the Vinson bill in the House—as predicted in this column—was the Congressional desire to make FDR eat his words. He had just said there wasn't going to be any inflation—and by golly here it is—though the reserve provisions against the new currency will minimize its visible effect in that direction if it finally passes. New York looks for Congress to make the Executive swallow crow just as often as possible.

SCHOOL

The idea for apprentice training for customers' men before they are allowed to contact the public doesn't sit so well with that fraternity—even though it would not apply to those already employed. Some of them are disrespectful enough to remark privately that it would be more to the point to set up a school for partners.

SIDELIGHTS

The Stock Exchange's frantic search for new business will lead to a relaxation of listing requirements. Corporate applicants will no longer have to have a minimum of 200,000 shares of stock outstanding. . . . Timid money from Europe is beginning to show up in New York since Hitler rattled his sword. . . . An English visitor tells of an enormous growth of sentiment among the British younger generation against bearing arms under any circumstances.

SPELLING BEE PLANNED FOR SCHOOL EVENT

Preparations were being advanced rapidly today for presentation of an interesting program at the Public Schools week. Friday night, April 12, in the Willard school auditorium, it was announced today.

D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school, and Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of schools, are co-operating with a committee representing the Masonic lodges of Santa Ana and every effort is being made to have the entertainment numbers on the program varied and to give a comprehensive picture of the public schools.

A feature expected to be of exceptional interest is a spelling match among pupils of the elementary schools. Only fifth and sixth graders will compete. Eliminations are now going on at the different schools in this city to select a best speller from each for the final event April 12. As there are 14 local elementary schools, 14 young "go-getters" will compete on the stage at Willard auditorium the night of the program.

Because of the size of the spelling group and the limited time allotted each number on the program there will be no "spelling down" but each youngster will be given ample opportunity to show his or her ability. Old-time spelling champions of little red schoolhouse days are cordially invited by the committee to attend and judge for themselves whether the crack spellers of today are not fully their equals.

There will be about 10 numbers on the program, but several will take only two or three minutes, the longest time allotted any number being 15 minutes. This, according to committee chairman Robert Speed, guarantees a fast moving program.

There will be no admission charge and the public is urged to attend.

MISS BOHLING IS HONOREE AT SHOWER AFFAIR

ORANGE, March 27.—Mrs. Joe Witt and her sister, Miss Lillian Hansen, were co-hostesses Monday night at an attractively appointed miscellaneous shower and party given in the Witt home, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Bohling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. The event was arranged as a surprise for the honor guest and an evening of games and contests was enjoyed. Miss Lois Rohrs and Mrs. Alvin Rohrs tied for honors in a game called a "jumbled trousseau," while Mrs. Mildred Brubaker was consoled. When scores in "culinary courtship" were added it was found that Mrs. Brubaker scored high and Mrs. Dorothy Kolchhorst was consoled. Other games were played.

Miss Bohling was presented with a bundle of lovely gifts which she found by means of tiny yellow hearts concealed in a bouquet of yellow sweet peas in the living room, green ribbons on the hearts leading to messages which told where the gifts were hidden. A late two-course supper was served at one long table which held two low bowls of yellow sweet peas and which was lighted with yellow tapers. Favors were with rice and decorated with orange blossoms.

Present other than the hostesses, Mrs. Witt and Miss Hansen, were Mrs. L. AVERAGE AGE OF PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS IS 25

PORT MYERS, Fla., March 27.—There is a gleam in the pale blue eyes of 72-year-old Connie Mack as he prepares the Philadelphia Athletics for their 25th season in the American league. You do not suspect that Mack has something up his sleeve. You only have to look out over Terry field to know that he has.

The current crop of Athletics brings happy memories to Mack of a team that reported to him a quarter century ago in the first season in the American league. Mack and Coombs, Ira Thomas, Meder and Collins, Barry and Baker, and O'Driscoll, Strunk and Danny Murphy.

The squad that has buckled down to work here also reminds Mack of the band he assembled in 1910, which went on to the first championship four years later—Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg; Cochran, Jimmy Fox, Bishop and Dykes; Simmons and Haas.

The current Athletics may not attain the heights of the two great arrays that preceded them before they are torn apart, but there is talent galore in the 25 athletes going through the paces here.

And what pleases Mack most is the fact that the average age of the band is only 25 years.

"With Jimmy Fox catching and handling the young pitchers, the Athletics have a chance to win the pennant in a wide-open race," smiles Mack.

PITCHING PROSPECTS ROSY

Mack is banking on the back-stopping of Fox and the natural improvement of his young pitchers to sweep the outfit from fifth place, where it finished in 1934, to a contending position.

He has a half dozen exceptional pitching prospects in Johnny Marcum, Bill Dietrich, Alton Benton, Charley Lieber, George Caster and Vernon Wilshire, a southpaw.

Marcum copped 14 games and 11 in 1934. The bespectacled Dietrich won 11 and dropped 12. Both won most of their victories during the last half of the campaign.

During the closing weeks, Dietrich tribbed the flag—gathering Detroit Tigers, 1-0, before an overflow Sunday crowd at Navin field, with an ordinary fly going for a two base hit. Mack called it one of the finest pitching performances for a youngster on the road that he ever witnessed.

Lieber, who slings a deceptive sinker, was drafted from the San Francisco Missions, for whom he grabbed 10 decisions while losing 13.

Caster, purchased from the Portland Beavers, won 3 games and lost 2, after reporting in September. He is the most symmetrically built of all the sterling athletes attacking victuals at the Bedford hotel here.

Caster is a pitcher without a windup. He throws the ball with a single sideward motion. It is a sort of legal quick pitch. He has remarkable control.

Sugar Cain is a right-hander of established worth, and LeRoy Mahaffey has been around long enough to know how to pitch. Little Joe Cascarella, the crooner, met with some success in 1934.

Sammy Fox, 37, and Bill Bennett, 38, southpaws, will be sent out. So will Edgar Smith, a semi-professional of Columbus, N. J.

Charley Berry is back to warm up pitchers and to be available in the event Jimmy Fox is hurt. Bill Conroy and Charley Moss are youngsters who require seasoning.

YOUNG TALENT

Alex Hooks, a fine fielding left hander, tackles the robust assignment of filling the large brooms of the famous Fox at first base. This former all-round luminary hit .340 in the Texas league last season.

Dib Williams is to start at second, with "Rabbit" Warfield and Charley English ready to relieve him in the event that his throwing does not improve.

English hit .326 and was voted the most valuable player in the Texas league.

Lamar Newcome, who comes from Tulsa with Hooks and a .286 batting average, is butting his head against a stone wall in trying to take Eric McNair's job at shortstop.

Bob Fausett, who helped Galveston win the Texas league gonfalon with a left handed batting average of .282, faces the same kind of competition in Frank Higgins at third base.

Outfielder Lou Finney will step in at first base if Hooks falls down.

Bob Johnson, working with a good behavior clause in his contract; Ed Coleman, and Roger Cramer form an outfield that is quite good enough.

Willard Wins Meet From Garden Grove

CITY'S SAMPLE BALLOTS READY FOR MAILING

Mailing out of sample ballots for the municipal election April 8, will be started tomorrow. It was announced today by City Clerk E. L. Vegely. Approximately 15,000 ballots will be sent to voters and the city clerk's office force has been busy for several days folding the ballots and stuffing them, together with cards showing polling places, into the mailing envelopes.

"We've been so busy preparing for the election I haven't had much time to do any campaigning myself," Vegely said today. In answer to many inquiries, Vegely pointed out that while city council candidates are nominated by wards, they are elected by the entire city, and voters should prepare to vote for five council candidates, one from each ward. The confusion arose from the fact that in some other cities voters may ballot only upon candidates in their own ward.

In the case of candidates for the board of education, voters are to ballot for five candidates, without regard to wards or other district lines.

Demonstration Of Blindfold Driving To Be Given Here

Captain De Zita, world adventurer, soldier of fortune and famous hypnotist and blindfold driver, will pilot a new Pontiac 8 automobile over the streets of Santa Ana Saturday afternoon and evening.

The drive, sponsored by the Reid Motor company, is unique in the annals of blindfold driving insofar as the famous driver not only has his eyes covered with the conventional bandage, but also uses yards of regulation adhesive tape to insure against any sight being possible.

During the course of the blindfold drive Captain De Zita will be accompanied by a police escort and will comply with all traffic regulations, making required stops at intersections and elsewhere. A strong exponent of traffic safety, Captain De Zita, in several hundred blindfold drives, has never been involved in a traffic accident of any kind.

The drives will start in front of the West Coast theater in the afternoon and evening. The Pontiac Chief and a group of Indians will take part in the event.

INHALATOR SQUAD SAVES BABY'S LIFE

Santa Ana's rescue squad, operated by the municipal fire department, saved another life early today when respiration failed to start in the newly born son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hein, 918 North Flower street.

When the baby was born at the Whitney Maternity Home, 705 Kilson drive, and ordinary methods of starting respiration failed, the attending physician called the rescue squad at 3:35 this morning.

Firemen Dwight Miller and Coleman Hargett responded, and worked with the inhalator and resuscitator for 1 hour and 55 minutes under the physician's direction before the baby's breathing became normal.

IMPORTANT POINT IS LOST BY LAMSON

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 27.—(UP)—The defense lost an important point in David Lamson's murder trial today when Superior Judge R. R. Syer admitted into evidence a piece of pipe with which the state contends Lamson beat his wife to death.

Submission of the pipe as a state exhibit drew an immediate objection from Chief Defense Counsel Edwin V. McKenzie, who was overruled by Judge Syer.

McKenzie opposed introduction of the pipe on grounds that its use as the murder weapon, as contended by the prosecution, was "pure conjecture," and that the state had not established a real foundation for its admission to evidence.

TOWNSEND DENIES WILL BE CANDIDATE

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend, author of the $200 monthly old age pension plan, said today that he was not planning to run for president in 1936.

Townsend said that statements to this effect by Charles M. Hawks, his representative, were "over-enthusiastic."

"I do not plan to run for president under any circumstances," Townsend said. "I do not feel that I am fitted physically or mentally for the task."

"Our organization is not in partisan politics. Two parties are enough for this country. We have no desire or intention of forming a third party."

FULLERTON, March 27.—Members of the Fullerton Presbyterian church met in annual session Tuesday night and elected officers, with the Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor, acting as moderator, and completing more than 11 years' service for the church. Dr. F. Harold Gohar was clerk of the session.

COUNCIL TABLES RESOLUTION ON TOWNSEND PLAN

ANAHEIM, March 27.—Refusal of the city council to adopt a resolution endorsing the Townsend Old Age Pension plan and memorializing congress to adopt the plan aroused the ire of 50 Townsend club members who waited on the council last night.

The resolution was tabled by unanimous vote of the council upon motion of Councilman Leo Sheridan which was seconded by Charles Pearson, recently appointed a member of that group.

In moving to table the motion Sheridan said "It is my opinion that it is the duty of the councilmen to attend to the affairs of the city and it is not my idea that we are to express the opinion of the people. If we were to adopt this resolution it would merely be the expression of five people, therefore I move that the resolution be tabled."

The motion by Sheridan was carried by an immediate unanimous vote. A member of the Townsend group asked permission to speak on behalf of the resolution before adoption of Sheridan's motion and was told by Mayor Charles Mann that it was "too late the motion has been carried."

The council adjourned immediately after action on the resolution and members of the Townsend group gathered about the city officials expressing their disapproval of the action taken. They continued to express their ire at the action for more than an hour after formal adjournment of the meeting.

Stories in STAMPS The SACRILEGE of FREEDOM

SPAIN once held its colonies in America in such firm grip that when at last there was an attempt to gain freedom, some of the very subjects who would have benefited by the movement cried it was a sacrilege and refused to help. And so the first attempt to free Salvador from Spanish rule failed.

This took place in 1811, and was led by six men, among them two priests. Their revolt lasted less than a month, but they gained dismissal of the despotic governor and amnesty for themselves. Ten years later Salvador gained independence.

This "Conspiracy of 1811" is pictured in one of Salvador's 1924 issue.

Producers of Corn Or Hogs Called to Meeting Thursday

All corn or hog producers were invited today to attend a meeting scheduled for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Farm Bureau assembly hall, 622 North Main street, Santa Ana.

The purpose of the meeting is to present the corn and hog outlook for 1935 and to outline provisions of the corn-hog contract. This will be the only general meeting called for this purpose so producers of these commodities are urged to be present.

Growers may sign the production contract or not, depending on their desires in the matter and if they are eligible, according to Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory, who said it is desirable that all growers become familiar with the provisions of the program.

Los Angeles Housewives In Boycott

Women to War on High
Meat Prices in Neighborhood Butchers

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—(UP)—Alarmed at soaring meat prices, Los Angeles housewives had organized today in a "boycott" war against neighboring butchers.

Meeting at the United Conference Against the High Cost of Living, 500 women last night voted to establish picket lines around markets until meat costs were reduced "within reason."

They also prepared to draft a protest to Agriculture Secretary Henry Wallace against rising food costs.

Militant leaders said they would attempt to enlist every housewife in the city in the drive to hammer prices back to "sane levels."

Dieticians were asked to volunteer their substitutes.

Plans to picket meat markets were drafted after the conference's action committee submitted a report in which butchers were accused of reneging on a promise to support the campaign.

The committee declared butchers after promising to cooperate later met and denounced the women as "communists."

Officers said a mass meeting will be held soon to discuss affiliation with the Housewives' League of Chicago, a group pledged to the same crusade, and institute the movement on a nation-wide basis.

Although the local organization is warring against all food price increases, heaviest blows are being delivered against meat prices.

OLD STORIES FAVORITES OF JUNIOR HIGH PUPILS, READING SURVEY REVEALS

By GEORGE HART

Boys still like dogs best of all, and girls still like to ggle. Reading tastes of junior high school boys and girls, as disclosed by questionnaire applied to students at Julia Lathrop school, Santa Ana, have failed to change very much.

While some may worry about angrier films and the like, it remains a fact that Julia Lathrop boys like dog stories best of all, and the girls prefer "funny books."

With the boys, sea stories were second in popular favor. And if there is any doubt that the kids today aren't just as old fashioned as ever, here's the first four favorite books for the boys: "Smoky," named by 21; "Lad, a Dog," selected by 20; "Treasure Island," preferred by 19; "Call of the Wild," also chosen by 19.

Closely following in favor were: "Tom Sawyer," "Rhodes of the 24th," "Little America," and "Rob-in Hood." Of the entire list of books named, there wasn't a suggestion of sophistication in the lot.

Dog stories were stated as the preference of 270 boys, sea stories being the choice of 252; 242 like aviation stories best; 220 voted for travel books; 215 agreed with the girls that funny books are "tops"; 206 prefer historical books; 200 chose mystery stories. Next in line were: biography, 197; books on how to make things, 183; knights and chivalry, 156; science, including astrology, chemistry, electricity, nature study, 154; stories about school life, 118.

The boys really weren't very strong for the aesthetic. Poetry drew only 60 votes, music and arts 45. And as to fairy tales, well—now, really! They're a bit too old for that—all except 26.

But 98 of the girls still like fairy tales best—girls would—and 139 prefer music and arts, while, would you believe it, 205 of these giggles, prefer poetry. Maybe that's because girls are more romantic.

The funny books drew the most feminine votes, 269; 241 preferred dog stories, showing that the girls can be almost as boyish as the boys themselves.

Travel books came third with the girls, getting 234 votes, closely followed by mystery stories, which won 233. Sea stories and school life stories were next in favor, with 203 each, followed by biography and historical books, with 147 each; knights and chivalry, 132; books on how to make things, 126; science, 125; aviation, 103.

The questionnaire was submitted by Miss Leonie M. Calkins, librarian at the Julia Lathrop branch library. It showed that 600 pupils read library books, a

WORKER'S CLUB PURPOSES TOLD BY OFFICIALS

Outlining the history and purposes of Worker's clubs, two of which have been established in Orange county, the following article was made public today by officials of the Santa Ana and Harbor District clubs:

"The Santa Ana Workers' club was formed on the so called San Bernardino model. In San Bernardino county, 10,000 workers, employed and unemployed, belong to such organizations. Through their efforts the budgets of relief workers in that county have been raised to the highest point in the United States and the San Bernardino method of providing medical service, dental service, optical service, medicines, drugs, nursing and hospitalization has been established.

"Santa Ana workers made several visits to San Bernardino to observe the workings of the clubs there. They attended meetings of the county council and found that the county and relief administration cooperated fully in efforts to better the conditions of the unemployed. In addition, local merchants, doctors, dentists, opticians, nurses and druggists supported the clubs in their demands, giving official recognition to the method by which additional provision for clothing, supplies and personal needs could be paid for in labor by the workers.

"The Santa Ana Workers' club meets every Tuesday night at 1524 South Main street. It has more than 150 members, a functioning grievance committee which settles disputes over details of its members' working hours, budgets, variations from standards, etc., with Relief Administration Terrence H. Hallinan, who has granted the committee a standing appointment every Thursday afternoon. The president is Ray Thompson; the secretary, Rockwell Layton. Administration is based on the 'rank and file' basis created in San Bernardino county, where by officers occupy their posts only at the will of the members, are subject to recall and rotate in presiding over meetings.

"The Harbor District club numbers 104 members. Its president is Claude Updike of Costa Mesa and it meets every Wednesday at Greener's hall in that town. Clubs are being formed in Stanton, Huntington Beach and Anaheim. The Long Beach Workers' club numbers 200. The movement is growing rapidly in Los Angeles county.

"The Workers' clubs are non-partisan and non-political. They are open to employed and part-time workers as well as relief workers."

HONOR HOOVER, LABOR HEAD

Wearing traditional cap and gown, former President Herbert Hoover and Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, are pictured in an informal moment at University of California charter day exercises, where they were awarded honorary degrees. Madame Secretary's back is to the camera. Between the pair is Dr. Robert Gordon Sprout, president of the university. As this was taken, Hoover's stirring letter to California Republicans was being read in Sacramento.

GROUP TO WORK ON IMPROVING AVOCADO TYPES

Several Orange county avocado orchards will be inspected next week by a special variety committee in search for an improved variety of avocado that will correct the shortcomings of the Fuerte, now the most popular variety and best adapted for commercial planting, it was learned today.

The principal drawback to the Fuerte, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, who is arranging the inspection tour for the committee, is the tendency toward alternate bearing, that is, a heavy crop one year and a light one the next. The committee is working on the basis that the new fruit will likely be a seedling of the Fuerte that will preserve the desirable quality, size and color of the Fuerte and yet add the characteristic of regular bearing.

"The Fuerte has proven to be well adapted to California conditions," the farm advisor said. "It does not do well in Florida. Its shape is unlike any other avocado, giving it a distinct trade mark; it is small to medium in size as contrasted to the uniformly large Cuban and Florida fruit. This appeals to both family and restaurant trade, as it makes for lower price per fruit. Its shipping qualities are excellent and the fruit has fine eating quality as well as flavor. The trade also prefers the green color and the medium thin skin which is typical of the Fuerte."

Among those serving on the committee representing the industry in the southern counties are

ASK PAYMENT OF $25,000 TO SETTLE SUIT

A suggestion that the county clear away the Sarah Ann Newcomb injunction barrier to dredging operations at Newport harbor, by purchasing her 19-acre tract with the $25,000 cash bond that has been posted to cover any damage award she might win in her injunction suit, was laid before the county supervisors yesterday by Walter Dexter, who said he was speaking on behalf of Mrs. Newcomb.

While the supervisors discussed the matter informally with Dexter, it was reported that they did not seriously consider the proposal.

The injunction proceedings instituted by Mrs. Newcomb in Orange county superior court have been halted by an order of the United States district court in Los Angeles, where the Standard Dredging company, which holds the government dredging contract at Newport harbor, brought action against Mrs. Newcomb to prevent interference with the work.

Meanwhile a superior court decision awarding title to the 19-acre tract to Mrs. Newcomb, as against claim to its title, as tidelands, by the city of Newport Beach, is before the state supreme court on appeal.

Dexter told the supervisors yesterday that he believed Mrs. Newcomb might accept the $25,000 for the tract. Subsequently, he intimated that a payment of $10,000 down, with terms on the balance, might be acceptable.

Because each car in the Indianapolis Speedway race is limited to 2000 lbs., a new gas has been developed which steps up mileage by about 20 per cent.

COURAGE SHOWN BY SANTA ANA GIRL IN UNDERGOING RARE SPINAL GRAFTING OPERATION

It takes spunk to enter an operating room with a jest on one's lips, and sometimes children make the grownups ashamed of themselves.

Take, for instance, the case of Miss Joanne Hockaday, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. N. Hockaday, of 2025 North Broadway.

"Of course I'm scared to death," but don't worry about me—I'll not let anyone know it," said the young lady to her mother shortly before the operation.

"Gee, this looks like a kitchen," she remarked while jesting with the doctors as she was taken into the operating room.

And from then on, Joanne displayed the courage of a Molly Pitcher, and has become a real heroine in the eyes of her family and friends for the courage she has displayed during the ordeal of recovering from a spinal bone grafting operation.

Today, and every day, at the Santa Ana Valley hospital where Joanne will remain for next two months convalescing, she is visited by troops of admiring schoolmates and friends, and all the "sick-room atmosphere" has disappeared under the light of her cheery smile and happy disposition.

There is no lack of visitors, for Joanne is a Girl Scout, member of the Presbyterian Sunday school, and a fifth grade pupil at Jefferson school, and her young friends call frequently to bring news of the schoolroom and other meetings which Joanne would have been able to attend had it not been for "her operation."

An interesting feature of the case is that the operation, at the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles, was performed by three surgeons, all of whom are graduates of the Santa Ana high school. They included Dr. John C. Wilson and Dr. Francis McKeever, associated as specialists in orthopedic surgery at Los Angeles, and Dr. Emmett Raitt of Santa Ana. Dr. Raitt graduated from Santa Ana high in 1912, with Dr. Wilson preceding him a few years and Dr. McKeever following a short time later.

Announce Program For Homemakers

Through the Orange county farm adviser's office, the United States department of agriculture today announced that an especially fine program for homemakers will be broadcast over KOA at 9:30 a.m. Pacific standard time on Wednesday, April 3.

Similar home demonstration programs are featured on the first Wednesday of each month, according to Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg.

THE TINYMITES

The giant smiled. "Bless my soul," he said, "I see no wondrous trick in that. What is it all about?" "Just wait," replied the Hindu. "You will see what strange things I can do. Look now, at all the tinymites, and you'll agree no doubt."

The smoke then disappeared from sight and every little Tinynite now had a wee chick's body. What a funny sight to see!

The giant eyed them for a while and then he simply had to smile. "Hello, there chicks!" he shouted. "You're as cute as you can be."

At first the tots were frightened. They did not seem to know what to say. Then Scouty looked up at the Hindu. "What a joke," he said.

"When you said you would show us tricks, we didn't know you'd make us chicks. I'm very glad, however, that I still have my own head.

"Now, what are we supposed to do?" Just stand and furnish laughs for you? As far as I'm concerned, sir, please make me a lad again."

"Oh, don't get all upset, my son. I merely thought I'd have some fun. I entertain myself, you see, with such tricks, now and then.

"Of course, all wee chicks like shelled corn, and if you'll not look so forlorn, I'll run and get a lot for you. That ought to be a treat."

"Aw, don't be silly," Scouty said. "I do not have a wee chick's head, and although I'm hungry, I don't want shelled corn to eat."

By now the giant saw the joke. His laughter almost made him choke. And then he said, "I've never seen the likes of this before."

"Don't worry, Times. I will see that you're made what you used to be. Right now, I think the Hindu has another trick in store."

Yorba Linda Group Arranges For Flower Show

ANNUAL AFFAIR IS SCHEDULED FOR APRIL 23

YORBA LINDA, March 27.—Two interesting events were planned at the regular meeting of Yorba Linda Women's club Tuesday, a flower show, an annual affair, for April 23, and a basket breakfast for May 1. In addition a book section was formed.

Miss Marsha Vernon presided at the meeting. Mrs. Vera D. Smalley, librarian, talked on types of books read in Yorba Linda, as judged from those taken from the library, and gave a list of books that are new.

Mrs. W. E. Swain and members of the Garden section are to be assistants in charge of the flower show, with Miss Vernon as head. The May basket breakfast will be a novel event, where a member will take a small table, seating four, and preside over breakfast. Over each table is to be hung a basket in which a prize will be placed for the prize winner of the table. Groups will play cards, study books, or do whatever they choose at tables. The breakfast will be at 9 a. m.

Mrs. Smalley will head the book section, which will gather in the library at 10 a. m. each first Monday of the month, starting next Monday.

Additional reports were made by Mrs. A. J. Moritz on the annual Boy Scout dinner held at the Woman's clubhouse recently; by Mrs. Waller Lowe and Mrs. George Kellogg on the last dance held at the clubhouse where more than $14 were cleared.

Secretary Mrs. A. S. Walker was asked to write letters of sympathy to Mrs. O. A. Mann, of Hollywood, and Mrs. George Corbett, of Arizona, former members, because of loss by death of family members, and to Mrs. Moore, of Yorba Linda.

Mrs. J. E. Lewis, Mrs. C. E. Simmons and Mrs. Bert Shaw were hostesses, and served cake and sherbet as refreshments at the close of the meeting.

AVOCADOS PLANTED ON BREA ACREAGE

BREA, March 27.—Three varieties of avocados, fuerte, naval and puebla, are being set out by W. D. Shaffer on his acreage just west of the Congregational church on East Imperial highway. The work is being done by a force of men from the Brea Co-operative unit in exchange for the use of the ground, which will be cultivated between the tree rows.

H. M. Maesey, manager of the Brea cooperative, states that as soon as the trees are set for Shaffer, the exchange will then plant strawberries, youngberries and loganberries between the rows for their own use. On a five-acre tract just south of the Shaffer land and belonging to Dr. W. H. Pickett, of Fullerton, the co-operative will shortly plant beans. The ground is now being prepared for that crop.

Two other gardens, both on land of the Union Oil company, are being planted to a variety of foodstuffs, much of which is shared with other co-operatives of the county.

NEWPORT BEACH, March 27.—Official approval of plans for the holding of the annual Southern California Sea Scout regatta at Newport bay April 29 was given this week by Sea and Boy Scout officials in conference at Balboa.

The regatta will be held by Sea Scout units from Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, Los Angeles and San Diego counties, and will be attended by several hundred boys from 8 or 10 scout "ships." It was said. Contests in swimming, diving, rowing, sailing, signaling and lead heaving will be held, and a perpetual trophy will be awarded the ship making the best score. Members expressed themselves as being very pleased with prospects for the base formation at Newport.

"But you should! That's the very first thing you should do."

"I know," Gale told him. "We're trying to get one, but lawyers don't seem to want clients who haven't any money—at least the ones we've tried so far."

"But I know plenty of lawyers. I'll get one for you."

Gale shook her head. "No, thank you," she said. "Phil wouldn't want you to do that—and neither would I."

"See here! Brian leaned forward, emphasizing the words, 'Your brother's in a bad spot, don't you realize that? This thing is liable to become serious. I don't want to frighten you, but if Vogel should die—'

Gale got to her feet. "I know," she said. "If Vogel dies Phil will be tried for murder. And he's innocent. He didn't have any more to do with that shooting than you or I. The men who say he did are simply lying, that's all. They tried to frame Phil. They think they can do it, but they can't. I'll work—I'll do anything to save him!"

"But you can't do it alone. You've got to have help. You'll need a smart lawyer—one of the best. Let me get—"

Gale interrupted sharply. "No," she said. "There's nothing you can do, Mr. Westmore, for Phil—or for me."

"You mean that?"

"I certainly do!"

Brian's eyes sought hers, held them. A moment more and he rose to his feet. "Well," he said slowly, "if that's the way you feel about it, I guess there's nothing more to say. Unless you change your mind. If you should—"

"I won't change it," Gale told him. Her cheeks were colorless but her eyes seemed unnaturally bright.

"Just the same, if you should I'll be glad to hear from you." He was at the door now, his hand on the knob. "I'll be glad to hear from you," he repeated, "in case you change your mind. Good night."

MORTGAGE PAYMENTS MADE EASY

Under the National Housing Act, each monthly payment includes principal, interest, insurance premium, one-twelfth of the year's taxes, one-twelfth of the year's fire insurance premium, one-twelfth of any annual assessments due, etc., so at no time is there a large unforeseen payment due against the property. The whole theory of this type of loan is that the borrower should contract to make payments which he reasonably could meet out of his normal income. This eliminates the necessity for continual refinancing and the continual danger of foreclosure.

EMBARGO ON WAR TOURIST CONTEMPLATED

Another of those political "trial balloons" has just been released by "sources close to the administration." This time the question asked of the public is: "Shall our citizens stay at home in case of another European war?"

The sinking of the Lusitania and hundreds of other neutral vessels once more recalls the fact that the United States entered the war largely as the result of Germany's ruthless submarine warfare.

Thousands of American citizens exercised their rights as neutral citizens to sail the high seas and visit war-torn Europe before this nation entered the conflict.

Hundreds of them lost their lives as the result of their venturesome curiosity and billions of dollars were spent to "make the world safe for democracy," and to insure for all time the freedom of the seas.

Have these prettily-phrased objectives been accomplished?

The administration suggests an embargo on the war tourist, and a virtual embargo on all passports. It contemplates telling its citizens to stay away from a fight, and: "If you violate the law and proceed against our wishes, then if you are killed or injured let it be a lesson to you, we're not going to war about it."

Norway and Sweden permitted their citizens to carry on trade with whomsoever they could. For the greater part of the war they traded with all combatants, until finally the blockade became almost 100 per cent effective.

Thousands of their citizens lost their lives when their vessels were torpedoed, and, with a sanity quite unlike our own, these countries recognized that they were the casualties of the dangerous trade and fancies they were following at that time. No war resulted. Whatever financial compensation the relatives may have received as heart balm and for loss of dignity they received as a result of negotiations at the close of the war.

If an aristocratic old woman saw two "rough-necks" engaged in a brawl, far from poking her nose into the affair, she'd hurry down the street and let the combatants fight it out in peace. But when nations grow large, they have felt in the past that they have a right to act as a sort of a referee, and that they must guarantee the rights of their citizens everywhere.

The loss of lives, treasure and even the respect of the combatants is the result of our pursuing a policy of mixing into what has proved to be just another European brawl. It has been terribly expensive.

The position that is now suggested is that in the future our nationals shall be denied the thrill of hazardous travel; that in case of war they shall remain inside of their own country, or shall be permitted to travel in only those parts of the world that are free from strife. And if adventurous individuals can't stay out of forbidden areas they must pay the full penalty themselves.

Simply stated, our citizens are to be asked to keep their nose out of other peoples' private scraps. Coming at this time it seems to be the part of good statesmanship to declare in advance just what this nation will and will not do, in relation to the travel rights of its own citizens.

In addition, it might be well to declare further that this country does not in the future intend to protect, with the blood of its citizens, the American dollar that is invested in foreign countries.

That the position of this country shall be that those who invest in foreign countries, in order to take a "long shot" gamble on huge profits, shall no longer expect the marines or any other armed forces to be sent to rescue their investments when internal troubles beset a foreign nation.

Money so invested, or let us say so risked, shall be won and lost according to the rules that prevail in the country in which it is invested. That is part of the hazard native to the investment and not a matter to be settled with the blood of other citizens.

GANGSTERS NO LONGER IN PUBLIC VIEW

John Paul Chase, former bootlegger of this state, who was with "Baby Face" Nelson when he made his last stand against the forces of the federal government, has just been sentenced to life imprisonment by a jury in Chicago.

He was charged with the murder of two federal agents, Samuel P. Cowley and Herman E. Hollis, when they trapped Nelson, Chase and Nelson's wife, Mrs. Helen Gillis, who is now in a federal reformatory.

Slowly but surely, the federal government has been radiating the more noted gangsters and has been bringing to justice the lesser lights and those who aid and abet these fugitives from justice.

It is very difficult now to recall the names of any who are still at large. Gone from the scenes are "Pretty Boy" Floyd, Clyde Barrow, John Dillinger, "Baby Face" Nelson, Homer Van Meter and many others whose names were formerly well known throughout the country because of their law-breaking activities.

One of the most notable achievements of the government of the past year or two has been the removal of these super-enemies of society and ridding them from the minds of the people as objects of glorification. For instead of being something to be held up and admired, they were like the rodents which flourish in dark and slimy places, and lived by preying upon the honest citizens of society.

One by one, they have been disappearing from view, and our thanks go to those who have been doing this great work.

TARIFF BENEFITS THE FARMER NOW

For 10 years it has looked as though Congress had "hoodwinked" the American farmer when, in exchange for a higher import duty on manufactured goods, it placed a high tariff on wheat, meat, butter and eggs.

During nearly all these years, the American farmer was compelled to sell his surplus in foreign markets, and, as a result the farmer received no more for that part of his crop which was consumed in this country than he received for that part of the crop which was consumed in some foreign country.

The tariff had no effect on the farm prices so long as this country had an exportable surplus. But many a farmer felt happy, though he was being deceived, because he was protected just like the manufacturers were.

When the tariff failed to raise prices, the farmer grumbled, and the politician answered: "I did what I could for you."

The prices of wheat, butter, eggs and meat are all higher now because of the tariff. The tariff on wheat is 42 cents a bushel. The price of wheat to the miller today is about 93 cents. Across the border in Canada it is selling for 80 cents, but not until it falls to 51 cents need the American farmer fear competition from that source.

The recent startling rise and fall in the price of butter was due, first, to a real shortage of butter in this country, and then to the discovery by some enterprising importer that butter could be bought in Australia and New Zealand for about 16 cents a pound. The ocean freight and tariff of 14 cents bring the wholesale price of a pound of butter to its approximate price of 35 cents wholesale today.

Carloads of Mexican cattle were fattened right in our own county, up to about four years ago, when the tariff of 3 cents a pound on meat animals made it unprofitable to continue the business, especially when domestic animals were selling for not much more than that.

Eggs, which are imported in huge quantities, are subject to tariff rates which effectively bars all except those fit only for bakery industries.

Smart farmers with something to sell must be chuckling, for they realize that a political move intended as a "sop," and calculated to keep them happy while not really doing anything for them, has at last turned out to be so beneficial for them.

THE DIONNE QUINTUPLETS

To many, the act of the Ontario parliament making the five little Dionnes the wards of the crown, against the wishes of their parents, may seem a tyrannical procedure. What right has any government to take children away from their parents?

Well, governments are doing it every day in every civilized community. The rights of childhood are paramount to the claims of parenthood.

So far as we know, the Dionne parents are respectable people who have a genuine interest in their offspring. But when it is for the highest interest of the child, the government has both a legal and a moral right to step in.

Certainly, for these little quintuplets, it would have been fatal had they received only such care as the parents were able to give them. And not only for the interest of the children themselves, but society had a stake in their lives.

Here was an unusual incident. Never has there been a better opportunity to make a study of the peculiar human phenomenon which may mean as much to society as a whole as to the babies concerned.

At any rate, the province of Ontario took the babies over. The parents are not to be denied access to their children. But like all parents, they will be compelled to follow the counsel and guidance of experts whose first concern is the welfare of the children.

Wildlife Conservation

The Select Committee on Conservation of Wildlife Resources, created pursuant to a resolution of the Seventy-third Congress, has brought in a report that is disquieting. First, it is stated, as a result of its extensive investigations and hearings, that there is not only a steady decrease of game and game fish, but a corresponding increase in the number of hunters and fishermen, due partly to the increased number of unemployed and partly to the increased interest in outdoor life. And as to land wildlife, there is an alarming decrease due to drainage, deforestation, erosion, fire, disease, water pollution, and the increasing number of hunters. An ironic instance is furnished in the complete devastation (through drainage) of an area which, by proclamation of President Theodore Roosevelt, was set apart as nurseries for wild fowl. "Ding," now "Mr. Darling, chief of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey," gave like testimony about another area in the same state (Oregon), once the greatest breeding ground for wildlife and water fowl in the country. Water has been led off for irrigation purposes, but the extravagant enterprise has failed; meanwhile the wildlife has disappeared.

These are but instances of what is going on in many parts of the country. This means not only an economic loss by reason of the destruction of a recreational estate that belongs to the whole nation (a billion dollar business), but the devastation of a recreational estate that belongs to the whole nation.

A few years ago the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, in gathering information concerning the relative news value of hunting and fishing material as compared with that in other outdoor sports, found that in fourteen States there were 4,420,876 people interested in hunting and fishing as compared with a combined total of 4,916,652 in baseball, football and golf. Statistics are also cited showing that 13,000,000 people in the United States go to the trouble of taking out hunting and fishing licenses. Besides these there are millions drawn to the parks and forests where "the major interest is in the wildlife there." The committee has a dozen or more specific recommendations to make, with the conclusion that the time has come for the definite affirmation, not by words alone but by deeds and dollars, that all wildlife is an invaluable public resource, entitled not only to protective laws but also to effective aid.

Cannot "Ding" devote his extraordinary talent to this end?

THE CURSE OF COLLECTIVISM

On reading an article about it.

If Willie can't add or subtract.
And is weak in division as well.
If the urchin is quite inexact.
When he tries how to parse and to spell,
He is not to blame for his very bad marks,
Which he takes, like a hero, unblinking;
The fault isn't due to his penchant for larks—
It's his drift to collectivist thinking.

His father and mother have found
That thought is quite hard on the brain,
Which goes whirling around and around
Till it palpitates under the strain.
And so when a thought seems a jump beyond reach,
They find that it eases their labors
To borrow the old hackneyed figures of speech
That are daily employed by their neighbors.

So Willie, at school or at home,
Shakes out all the folds in his ears
And stocks up his little round dome
With the talks that he constantly hears.
And, whether he's happy or whether he's blue,
Or charged with an infantile passion,
He talks as his slothful progenitors do
In the easy collectivist fashion.

So you can't put the blame upon him
For the slovenly words of the crowd,
For his knowledge of English is dim;
With but few easy words he's endowed.
He may, when he's grown, be arrayed in swell togs
Like my modish old friend, Jimmy Walker,
But his tongue will ever keep slipping its cogs,
And he'll be a collectivist talker.

PARAGRAPHS

People may live on hilltops in future, as Brisbane says. Poison gas always settles in the low places.

That is, gambling is unlawful when done by anybody whose arrest won't endanger the cop's job.

Don't worry if Willie is wild and reckless. He may be a great leader when the people get mad about something.

SUCCESS IS EASY. YOU JUST FIND A SWEET AND SENSIBLE WOMAN, MARRY HER, AND LET NATURE TAKE ITS COURSE.

You aren't a wicked rich man until your taxes are greater than the benefits you receive from tax money.

Note to youngsters: The men and women you think so wonderful seem as unimportant as your parents to their own minds.

You would like to be treated as some friend is by his family? Ah, well; perhaps you would be if you were like him.

AMERICANISM: Spending more than any other nation to educate the people; the largest crowd always following the leader whose promises contain the least sense.

Don't try too hard to please. The world respects people who don't seem to give a darn whether it does or not.

Marriage: A ceremony that authorizes a woman to take a man and clean him up and civilize him.

Statesmen may not fear a wild man. It isn't mere cowardice that causes all creatures to avoid conflict with a skunk.

SOME WOMEN SEEM TO ENJOY LIFE AND OTHERS MARRIED MEN WHO WON'T PLAY BRIDGE.

If capital is timid, the reaction to Huey indicates a lot of capitalists in the Senate.

Of course there is more wickedness in a big town. In a small town there is no place to hide from the neighbors.

Yes, the headlines are dreadful. But how comforting to reflect that misfortune is rare enough to be news.

There is nothing new. The first news story ever reported concerned the sin of a man and a woman.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

NEW REPUBLIC AND CIVIL LIBERTY

Yesterday I listed certain fundamental questions about freedom of speech, press and assembly, which the arrest of John Strachey, young British philosopher of communism, has raised.

Today I want to define an attitude towards civil liberties which has lately been taken by certain American liberals. It is an attitude markedly at variance with the traditional attitude of American liberals generally. If it marks a new trend or new strain in American thought, it deserves careful consideration by a wider public than has yet considered it.

The clearest exposition or confession of this new attitude is to be found in the New Republic which has frankly moved much farther towards the left in recent months.

The editors of the New Republic were recently taken to task by William Henry Chamberlain for maintaining what he called "a double standard of morals" in the matter of civil liberty, when they denounce without qualification Democratic America, Fascist Italy, of Nazi Germany for every infringement of free speech, free press and free assembly, but condone Soviet Russia in her most ruthless denials of minority rights.

The New Republic editors admit that they denounce denials of civil liberty in the United States, in Italy and in Germany, and condone such denials in Russia, and they justify this difference in attitude upon grounds that are, when simply stated, just this: The end justifies the means. The objective of Fascism seems to them bad. The objective of communism seems to them good. And they join the ancient Machiavelli in thinking, as I have said, that the end justifies the means. The denial of liberty, to them, is good when used to further ends they regard as good, but bad when used to further ends they regard as bad.

They frankly doubt the feasibility of civil liberty in any save a stable society that can afford to let minorities talk freely because there is no chance that they will succeed in changing anything materially.

This, I think, is a fair statement of the essence of the new position of the New Republic on civil liberty.

This is a clear-cut position which can be respected even by those who, like myself, simply do not believe in it and think it a regrettable somersault backward to the ages of tyranny before the blood and sacrifice of the fathers won at least the measure of liberty we have enjoyed.

I give it here without further comment simply as an exhibit of new patterns of thought that are forming in the United States. Copyright, 1935, McClure Newspaper-Syn.

A WAY OF RELEASE

If you knew that you had to work with a machine all your life, you would learn how it worked. Children have a machine side to their being and we would do a better job with them if we learned a bit about its working. Take the effect of a thought on the muscles of the body as a starting place.

Whenever a thought enters the mind it starts certain muscles moving. If the mind does not send out the order to GO, the movements are scarcely noticeable. But they are there. As the child listens to words his speech muscles are working. As he thinks about running for a base in the game that is to come at recess, his running muscles are twitching and are held quiet by his will. All day long and even in sleep, his law works. "All ideas in consciousness tend to discharge themselves through the motor areas."

Children think of things that are not disclosed to us. Thoughts are shadowy forces at best and as they flit across the child's mind he controls his body so that they do not show on the surface. But there they are working away, straining at the leash that the body imposes upon them. If the thought is strong enough it struggles with the body which grows weary of the battle and the weariness shows itself in strange behavior.

"George is a nuisance in class. He won't even try to sit still. He giggles and squirms. He answers out of turn, he will not settle down and give us a minute's peace. Either he goes out of the room or I'm headed for the hospital."

"Let's have the doctor look at him and see what he can find." The doctor finds nothing. George continued to be a nuisance and his teacher was about desperate. So was his mother.

One day the teacher stopped in to speak to me on her way to lunch. "I want to tell you something about George. Maybe I am doing wrong. The other day George was worse than usual. Not once the whole morning was he still a minute. The last half hour I told the class a story. As soon as I began George reached for his pencil and began scribbling as usual. Not a sign of attention to me."

"I was so tired that I said to myself, let him scribble as long as he keeps quiet. He scribbled."

A number of autogiro planes have been ordered by the English government in an effort to discover their military value.

Planes are being made fast enough to cover the newly scheduled airmail route from New York to San Francisco in 20 hours flying time.

England's largest commercial airplane has a payload capacity of a little less than 8000 pounds and a maximum speed of 140 miles an hour.
